15 TRUE BILLS RETURNED BY GRAND JURORS

Six Forgery Cases Included in Indictments Reported Here Today

CONSIDER 23 CASES

Assault Charges Involving Former Sheriff and Dry Agents Are Ignored

Fifteen indictments were returned by the January grand jury which made its report to Judge George B. Gorman in common pleas court at 10 o'clock this morning. The grand jury considered 23 cases and in eight found no indictment.

The cases in which no indictments were found included the assault charges against James A. Deal, former Marion county sheriff, and the assault and battery charges against Harry A. Bayshaw and E. F. Howard, prohibition officers.

List of True Bills

Indictments were returned against the following:

Hazel Temple, indicted for forgery.

Frank Zeller Sams, indicted for burglary.

Elmer Needles, indicted for grand larceny and for removing mortgaged property from the county.

Lester B. Cole, indicted for forgery.

Two true bills were returned.

Darrell Lee, indicted for carrying concealed weapons.

John Lee, alias Thomas Bannigan, indicted for forgery.

Jesse Jones, indicted for carrying concealed weapons.

Chester Elmer Townsend, indicted for burglary.

Cyrus Shepard, indicted for automobile stealing.

Theodore Ballinger, indicted for issuing checks without funds.

Ernest White, indicted for grand larceny.

Albert E. Reynolds, indicted for forgery.

Hazel Austin, indicted for forgery.

Six for Forgery

Among the true bills returned by the grand jury were six for forgery, two for burglary, two for grand larceny, two for carrying concealed weapons, one for automobile stealing, one for removing mortgaged property and one for issuing checks without funds.

The cases in which no indictments were returned follow:

Otis Shaw, charged with shooting with intent to kill.

John M. Koehler, charged with manslaughter.

Ralph Lucas, charged with housebreaking.

B. F. Howard, charged with assault and battery.

George A. Baynham, charged with assault and battery.

Sam Jones, charged with manufacturing distilled liquor.

Jack Price, charged with grand larceny.

James A. Deal, charged with assault.

The grand jury finished with the last case at noon yesterday. Its members were called back this morning to make the report and make the regular inspection of the county jail. No recommendations were made in connection with the conduct of the jail.

Eighty-nine witnesses were examined by the jury, records show. B. F. Wages was foreman.

THEY'RE RICHEST

Princess Given Four Million As Dowry Before Marriage

LONDON, Jan. 10 — The Princess of Piedmont, formerly Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, received $4,250,000 as a Dowry before her recent marriage to Crown Prince Umberto of Italy, it was revealed in dispatches to the evening newspapers from Rome today.

This huge sum, coupled with the prince's liberal allowance from the Italian government, makes the newlyweds one of the wealthiest royal couples in Europe.

It is understood, the dispatches state, that Prince Umberto will shortly be promoted to the rank of general in the Italian army.

HOOVER WILL MAKE REPORTS

Will Send Preliminary Survey of Law Enforcement Board to Congress

BOWS TO HOUSE WISHES

Executive Abandons Hope of Having Committee Study Dry Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10— President Hoover today bowed to the wishes of the house leaders and made it known that on Monday he will send to congress the several preliminary reports of his law enforcement commission on the question of prohibition enforcement.

With this gesture, the president abandoned his hope of having a joint-select committee consider the ways and means of tightening up enforcement of dry laws.

The only desire of Mr. Hoover is that congress expedite the legislation which his law enforcement commission is recommending. He made it known that he would adapt himself to the wishes of the house leaders as to the methods by which the proposals would be considered.

Relinquishes Fight

Further, he promised to place the various administrative officials of the government at the disposal of the several house committees which will take up various phases of the prohibition enforcement problem.

The White House announcement came hard on the heels of a statement by Speaker of the House Longworth that house leaders were opposed to formation of a joint committee which would take away preliminary functions from already established committees of the house.

The refusal of Longworth and his assistants to permit house members of any joint comittee to report direct to the house itself in the opinion of the president, only would entail further delay and for this reason he relinquished his fight for creation of such a body.

Will Consider 4 Subjects

The report of the law enforcement commission, which goes to congress Monday, will deal with four subjects:

Relief of court docket congestion.

Transfer of prohibition enforcement activities of the government to the department of justice.

Improvement of border patrols and solution of the port of entry problem.

Codification of the 25 federal statutes under which prohibition is now being enforced.

Little Men Do Learn
When Mussolini Appeared
No Chemical Life
Mexico Experiments

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE big fat wind that blew in Wall Street did somebody good. New York's savings banks report more than eighteen thousand new accounts within a few days after the storm. The "little" man seems to have learned a lesson.

At the royal wedding in Rome five foreign sovereigns, five rulers who had recently lost their jobs, and fifty-four other royalties looked on. Queens, princesses and princes entered the chapel.

* * *

The interesting moment came when Mussolini, Italy's dictator, entered and was saluted by all the royalties with the Fascist salute, the outstretched right arm.

Those that did not march with the party. But when they saw him and gave him that salute, angels, looking down, could easily identify the real rulers of Italy.

* * *

It was an interesting marriage-ceremonial rites reserved by the Church for royalty. The Italian king and queen sat on a throne at one side of the altar, the Belgian king and queen sat on another throne at the other side of the altar. At the elevation of the host, trumpets sounded and drums were beaten. That is only for royalty.

The bowing prince and princess kissed Cardinal Mafii "Do you," they looked toward their fathers and mothers, sitting on their thrones and said "Si" ("Yes") only after their parents had nodded consent.

DR. HEYL, physicist of the United States bureau of standards, says man will produce life artificially by chemical, not supernatural." And there is "nothing occult in the process of life."

Maybe result, perhaps, but Professor Heyl will not produce life, nor will any other physicist by chemical means. Things may be made to wiggle, but that will not be life.

This universe is a great trinity—matter, force and spirit or consciousness. No scientist will produce consciousness, possessing the potential ability to think. Chemicals can't do that.

Mexico experiments with the criminal law. Instead of a jury there will be five "technical experts," the degree of guilt based on the criminal's intelligence and realization of his crime.

No punishment for your first crime if you were hungry and hurt no one. Here we allow a dog one bite, but don't allow a thief one theft.

No Mexican death penalty for civil crimes. Revolutionists will be shot as usual. Automobile drivers, killing somebody, cannot be locked up more than six years.

The new law assumes that crime is largely a "disease." Criminologists in many countries have suggested similar changes. Mexico is first to try them.

The rule canceling life insurance, if the insured traveled by airplane, was a serious handicap for aviation.

TRIO ARRESTED HERE AS 'DOPE' IS DISCOVERED

Woman and Two Men Held as Suspected Members of Ring

RAID SENATE ST. HOME

Find 109 Cocaine Capsules; Federal Narcotic Officers Expected Today

City police last night raided a house at 217 Senate st., confiscated 109 capsules of cocaine valued at $100, and a quart of alleged liquor, and arrested three colored persons, a woman and two men.

Federal narcotic agents are expected today to take over the prosecution of one or more of the trio in federal court on charges of violating the federal anti-narcotic law.

J. D. Howell, 26, colored, one of the men arrested night, is wanted in federal court at Columbus on a narcotic indictment of the federal grand jury, according to Police Chief J. W. Thompson. A warrant for Howell's arrest on this indictment was recently sent local police from Columbus.

Police armed themselves with a search warrant when they went to 217 Senate st. at 10:30 o'clock last night to arrest Howell, having suspected liquor was being sold at the house.

Found in Laundry Bag

A search of the house revealed a small brightly colored laundry bag which contained a small tin box and a small bottle containing the cocaine capsules, several pieces of root wrapped in an old paper sack, a small pocketbook containing several dollars, and a "good luck" charm.

Mrs. Linda Lyles, 40, thought to be a sister of Howell, and her husband, Herbert Lyles, 37, were also arrested in the raid. They will also be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution.

Belief that confessions of the trio will reveal lengthy dope chain reaching to some sea or lake port where the dope could be smuggled into this country was expressed this morning by Police Chief Thompson.

Serving as Link

He also is of the opinion that the local group was forming a link in such a chain, and was either disposing of the dope here, or forwarding it to other points, or possibly both.

The cocaine capsules, which are "taken" by placing one of them under the lip and allowing it to slowly dissolve, were analyzed this morning and found to be genuine "dope." The capsules, although valued at $1 each, retail, are very small.

What the small quantity of root found in the bag is used for had not been ascertained this morning although it is probable that it possesses some of the qualities of dope, police say. A small section of one of the roots was charred, showing that it had either been smoked or burned.

A very small perfume bottle, which emitted highly scented odors when opened, was also in the bag. The bottle contained several small moist pieces of a brownish stuff, slightly resembling cork, and which might have been parts of one of the roots.

None of the trio arrested last night has been a resident of this city for more than a few months, Chief Thompson said today. Chief Thompson believes the alleged dope peddlers travel from one city to another, staying but a short time, and leaving before their operations are discovered.

COASTGUARDSMEN RESCUE 40 SEAMEN

Stands by in "Pea Soup" Fog as Big Freighter Strands on Treacherous Shoals

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Jan. 10 —Fearless coastguardsmen stood by in a "pea soup" fog today to rescue 40 officers and men aboard the big freight steamship Edward Luckenbach, stranded today on the treacherous shoals west of Southeast Light.

The coastguardsmen on hand included 30 men of the destroyer Henley out of New London, Conn., the crews of surf boats from the two coastguard stations at Block Island and the crew of the 125-foot patrol boat Nemaha.

Lives of the men of the Edward Luckenback were not in danger, according to word that came shoreward.

The big freighter, however, resting a full ship's length from shore, had water pouring into her holds and flooding her engine room.

Millionaire Fights Off Burglar in New York

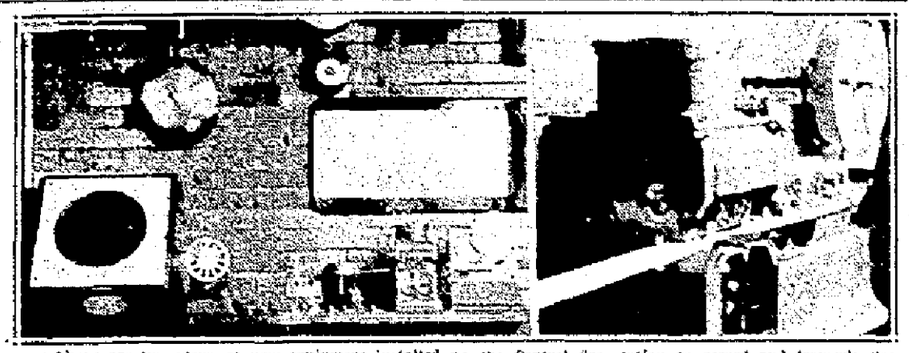
NEW YORK, Jan. 10—A burglar of the old school—filled with the modern crime spirit of 1930—invaded alone the mansion of a millionaire on Fifth av.

While his wife watched helplessly, Dr. Nicholas Partos, millionaire head of the Cornell chain of drug stores, fought a desperate battle with the masked intruder, who was armed with an iron bar.

The noise of the battle aroused the five servants and the burglar threw off the millionaire and fled.

Dr. Partos today was being treated for severe wounds on his head and body inflicted by the burglar.

NEW AID TO FIRE FIGHTING



Above are two views of new equipment installed at the Central fire station to record and transmit fire calls. At the left is a complete view of the equipment, and at the right is a close-up of the devices which record the approximate location and exact time of each fire. The instruments pictured above cost approximately $2,000.

FRANK D. SMITH PASSES AWAY

Former County Commissioner Dies After Illness of 13 Days

VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Funeral Services To Be Held at Trinity Baptist Church Monday

Frank D. Smith, 69, who served as commissioner of Marion county for two terms, died this morning on the anniversary of his birthday, at the Troy home, 631 Mt. Vernon av. Apoplexy was given as the cause of death. He had been ill 13 days.

During Mr. Smith's time in office the length of term of the county commissioner was changed. He was elected to office in 1918, took up his duties in September, 1919, and retired in January, 1924. He also served as trustee of Claridon township two terms.

Mr. Smith was born Jan. 10, 1861 in Claridon township, to James and Louisa Martin-Smith. Both parents are dead.

He was married Sept. 21, 1887 in Claridon township to the former Alice Holverstott, who preceded him in death.

He was a member of Trinity Baptist church, Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, and Marion Lodge No. 102, Knights of Pythias.

Surviving children are H. Clay Smith, Marion, R. F. D. No. 6, Gail Smith, Prospect, R. F. D. No. 2, and Clyde L. Smith, Caledonia, R. F. D. No. 2.

One sister, Mrs. W. E. Morrow 554 Mt. Vernon av., is living.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Trinity Baptist church, in charge of the Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. The body is now at the C. E. Curtis Co mortuary, East Center st.

STATE DRY AGENT CONTINUES SESSION

Says Property Owners Who Ignore Tax Notices Will Be Assessed

Hearings in connection with the assessment of the Dow-Aiken liquor tax against 20 Marion city and county properties continued this morning before W. H. Kline, representative of the state prohibition department.

Although several persons ignored summons to appear before Kline for hearings, two responded before 11 o'clock this morning.

Kline stated today that in cases where persons summoned fail to appear, Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen will be notified to immediately start suit to collect the $1,200 Dow-Aiken tax which has been certified against the properties involved.

The tax has been certified against 20 Marion properties in which convicted bootleggers operated.

Proceeds of the collection of the Dow-Aiken tax are divided three ways with the state, the municipality and the county as the beneficiaries. Three-tenths of the tax goes to the state, five-tenths, or one-half, goes to the municipality in which the property is located, and two-tenths goes to the county for the poor relief fund.

Man Is Charged with Murder of His Mother

DAYTON, Jan. 10—A first degree murder charge was filed today against Henry C. Elam, 35, in connection with the slaying of the man's mother here Saturday afternoon.

Although Elam contends he accidentally shot his mother with a shotgun, police declared that Elam had a motive for the killing, inasmuch as he held a $500 insurance policy on her life. He admitted that he was the author of a "threat" note which was received a week before the shooting and which told the women that her life was in danger.

TAKE 15 IN RAIDS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—Fifteen persons, including two women, were under arrest here today following one of the most intensive "dope cleanups" here in years. All of the arrested persons were charged with selling cocaine. Federal narcotic agents who made the arrests still continued their raids on dope dens and dives early today.

TRAIN IS WRECKED NEAR CARDINGTON

Big Four Traffic Detoured Through Marion as Result of Derailment

Marion Big Four and Hocking Valley trucks this morning were burdened with traffic from the Cleveland-Cincinnati division of the Big Four railroad, which was detoured through this city last night after a train wreck two and a half miles south of Cardington shortly before midnight tied up the two main tracks of that division.

The debris of the wreck will probably be removed this afternoon and regular routing will be restored. As it is, the Cleveland-Cincinnati division cars are coming from Galion to Marion on Big Four tracks, proceeding to Delaware on Hocking Valley tracks. At Delaware the cars again reach the Cleveland-Cincinnati division tracks.

A burned out journal bearing was blamed today for the wreck, which piled up between 11 and 13 freight cars behind engine No. 62 south of Cardington last night. Several of the cars were derailed and plunged into the flooded fields along the tracks.

Four cars of gravel, eight of coal, and one empty oil tank car left the tracks and were badly smashed. No one was injured.

NOT PROFANITY

"Hell" and "Damn" Not Sufficient To Deny KWKH License

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—The word "hell" and "damn" do not constitute profanity sufficient to deny a radio station broadcasting them a license, in the opinion of Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the federal radio commission, who testified today before the senate interstate commerce committee.

He was giving his opinion on the so-called profanity of W. K. Henderson, who operates station KWKH at Shreveport, La. Senator Dill, Democrat, of Washington, who recently assailed Henderson on the senate floor, was questioning him as to why Henderson was permitted to continue on the air.

Automatic Fire Alarm Equipment Installed in Local Department Is Model of Speed and Accuracy; Bought by City at Expenditure of $2,000

BY ROBERT BYRD
Marion Star Staff Writer

Marion's fire department has been brought to new levels of efficiency in the handling of fire calls by the recent installation of new equipment for recording and transmitting alarms.

A small board of instruments shown in the photograph printed here, together with changes made in the present system when the new equipment was installed, has made it possible to record the exact time of each fire call, to make a permanent record of each call, and to expedite the handling of a call once it has been turned in by telephone or by alarm box.

When a call is received at the central fire station by telephone, it is necessary to transmit it to the other stations. This is done over the fire department's own lines, which signal the approximate location of the fire by a code of numbers. With the new equipment, the desired number, which always coincides with the number of the firebox which is nearest the scene of the fire, is turned on a dial on the instrument shown at the far left on the above photograph, and a release button, also on the dial is pushed. The number is then automatically rung in the other stations.

Works Automatically

When a call comes in from a fire box, this is not necessary, as the call automatically rings in each station of the department. When the call comes from a box, the instrument on which the code is sent when a call comes by telephone is not used.

Whether the call comes by telephone or through a fire box, a permanent record of it is made on a narrow paper tape, which passes from a spool, shown in the extreme right of the photograph, to another spool to the left. As the tape passes from one spool to another when a call is coming in, a small triangular blade punches a hole in the tape at each top of the bell. Thus, if box 13 were rung, the holes in the tape would be: * . Immediately after the call has been rung three rounds, an automatic stamp records the exact time, giving the year, month, day, hour and minute.

Before the new equipment was installed, two seconds elapsed between strokes of the bell when a call was being sent through. When the change to the new equipment was made, the time was cut to one second, with the result that the calls are sent through twice as fast as before.

Easily Adjusted

The new equipment, which was recently installed at an approximate cost of $2,000, consists of a fire alarm transmitter, the visible parts of which consist of a huge dial with knobs to adjust any desired number to be rung between 1 and 100. A fire alarm recording register is the machine which punctures the tape the same number of times the gong strikes. A time register is the piece of equipment

LOCAL BUTTER PRICE LOWEST IN 12 YEARS

Over-Production Results in Drop to Wholesale Figure of 35 Cents

An over-production of butter has caused the price to reach the lowest level here in the last 12 years, according to Charles H. Isaly, president of the Isaly Dairy Co. The present wholesale price of butter is 35 cents a pound as compared with about 60 cents 12 years ago.

The retail price in Marion varies from 50 to 60 cents a pound, at the option of the merchant.

According to Isaly the present butter production in the United States is from 15 to 20 per cent higher than the average production at this time of the year. The result is that the country has started to export butter and the price has dropped to meet the world market price.

Eventually there will be an equalization between production and consumption and butter prices will move to a higher average, Isaly states. The present low price will result in an increased consumption and a decreased production. These tendencies will aid in the equalization, Isaly states.

The present over-production and low price is not confined to the local markets, Isaly states, as butter prices show little variation in different sections of the United States.

Hold Couple Suspected in Policeman's Slaying

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 10— Possibility that the relentless hunt for Mrs. Irene Schroeder, who shot and killed Corp. Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania state highway patrol near New Castle, n., had terminated successfully was seen here today with the detention of an unidentified blonde woman, about 30 years old, and her companion, claiming to be Charles Pollock of Toledo, Ohio.

The couple's pictures, fingerprints and identifying characteristics were sent both to New Castle and to Wheeling, W. Va., where Mrs. Schroeder once lived.

Southwest Is Hit by Blizzard; Four Killed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 10 — The southwest was today digging out of one of the worst snow and sleet storms that has visited this section in years.

Four deaths have been attributed to the fury of the blizzard, two in Missouri, one in Oklahoma and one in Kansas.

ICE-COVERED AREA SUFFERS HEAVY DAMAGE

Hundreds of Telephone Poles Fall and Many Miles of Wire Snap Under Weight of Frozen Crust Forming After Long Rainfall

SOME PLACES WITHOUT PHONES, LIGHTS

Marion and Surrounding Territory Hard Hit: Hundreds of Trees Damaged; Cold Wave Checks Flood Menace in County

Encased under a thick spread of ice following 60 hours of almost incessant rainfall, Marion county and the northern half of the state were struggling with crippled transportation and communication systems today.

Meanwhile, threatened flood conditions prevalent in this county and other sections of the state showed a tendency to abate with the arrival last night of freezing temperatures.

A summary of conditions prevalent in Marion and other Ohio counties today show that 100 telephone poles and many more tree branches are down in the county, from weight of the ice crust, endangering and in some places temporarily blocking travel; street lights and electric service temporarily were cut off in Marion and other cities by ice-laden branches snapping wires; 200 long distance telephone circuits throughout Ohio, including several local lines have been demoralized by broken wires; telegraph service in this and the northern Ohio district is badly crippled; bus, interurban and airplane service is hampered through northern sections.

Scioto Going Down

At 1 o'clock this morning, the Scioto river at Prospect ceased rising, and by this morning had dropped an inch and a half. One home in the northern section of the village had been reached by the water, and many others were threatened. An aged woman was removed from her home in an ambulance last night when the high water threatened to surround her home.

Opinion that the flooded condition of the county will continue to abate today was expressed from several quarters today. None of the rivers was rising this morning, and most of them were slowly finding their way back to their normal channels, carrying away with them water which has inundated hundreds of acres since Tuesday night.

Telephone and telegraph linemen were busy in the northern sections of the state today, rigging temporary connections which were severed last night when coatings of nearly half an inch of ice covered every overhead line in this section.

Restoring Service

Telegraph service will be restored in this county by this afternoon, reports from local companies indicated.

Approximately 100 telephone poles are down in this county, according to A. J. Berry, manager of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., here. Nearly 50 poles are down along the Marion-Mt. Gilead rd., reports of motorists, who were obliged to battle past fallen poles, trees and wires to reach Marion, indicated this morning. More than 200 poles are down in various sections of the state, including heavy damage along Ohio Bell Telephone Co. lines.

Communications in approximately 200 towns and villages in Northern Ohio are crippled, latest reports today indicated. Wellington, Avon and Bucyrus are completely cut off from service.

A wind, which was slowly gaining strength this morning, was looked upon ominously since it was feared that the slightest swaying of the ice and sleet-covered wires would cause vast damage and throw scores of towns out of communication.

Automobile traffic will not be restored to normal in this section for several days, according to reports today. If the low temperatures which halted the rainfall continue here, the flooded roads will be made dangerous by ice-covered overflows.

Tree Limbs Snapped Off

Marion was crippled in several respects by the ice crust which reached its heaviest proportions here last

OPPOSE CUT IN ARMY RESERVES

Champions of Strong National Defense Aroused Over Committee Suggestions

SWEEPING CHANGES

Would Require Revision of 1920 Act and Entire National Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—Champions of a strong national defense were aroused today by suggestions of the house appropriation committee to abandon the national defense act plan of unbuilding reserves for an army of 1,000,000 men and whittling down the regular army to reduce military expenditures.

The proposals laid before congress for consideration without definite recommendation by the committee, are declared to be the most sweeping proposed since President Hoover announced his program for reorganization of the army to achieve economy. They would require revision of the national defense act of 1920 upon which the present national defense system is modeled. The plan calls for a regular army of but 125,000 men, but maintenance of a large reserve and war supplies and ammunition for a million men.

"This plan would change the whole national defense policy and ought not to be acted upon without serious consideration," said Rep. J. Mayhew, Republican of New York, member of the military affairs committee and an ex-secretary of war.

"Our plans are based entirely upon the placing of an army on the field on short notice. We should be cautious before we do anything to weaken our national defense."

Rep. Melvin J. Maas, Republican of Minnesota, member of the "soldiers' bloc," predicted the American Legion and all other similar organizations would urge a fight against the suggestions.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

Dig Way to Freedom Through Brick Wall at Hamilton Prison

HAMILTON, Jan. 10—Four prisoners, three of them juveniles, escaped from the Butler county prison under the cover of darkness early today. They dug their way through a brick wall.

Those at large are:

McKinley Ponder, 33, accused of hog stealing and supposed ring leader in the break. Elbert Hakombe, 17, charged with robbery. William Waddell, 17, accused of auto stealing. Owen Spicer, 17, who was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile without license tags.

Ponder was being held in the juvenile ward for safe keeping. He had confessed to crimes involving prisoners in the adult section of the jail.

An immediate search was started for the escaped prisoners.

Sheriff Blocks Break from Jail

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10—Plans for what may have resulted in a jail break of major proportions today had led to the solitary confinement of Foreman Price, alleged notorious gunman and robber and leader in the prison delivery plot, in the Hamilton county jail.

Sheriff William M. Anderson, after being "tipped" that a delivery was being planned, searched Price's cell. He found five pieces of steel, which could be used as clubs, an improvised lock pick, a nail file and a needle.

10 BELOW ZERO IN ARKANSAS CITY

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Jan. 10—Another weather record was on the books here today. The mercury last night went down to 10 degrees below zero, the coldest in this section in 10 years.

Ten inches of snow was reported. Livestock was hit hard by the extreme cold.

ON WINTER TEST

18 Planes Hop Off in Biting Cold for Washington

SELFRIDGE FIELD, MT. CLEMENS, Jan. 10—Eighteen planes of the first pursuit group, accompanied by an observation plane from Cook Field, Dayton, O., hopped off today on their 3,700-mile winter maneuver to Spokane, Wash., and return.

The 19 ships, equipped with skis, took to the air from the ice of Lake St. Clair. With the mercury standing at 10 degrees above zero and a biting wind blowing from the northwest, the take-off was in keeping with the purpose of the flight.

Better Cooperation on Enforcement Reported

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—A more satisfactory degree of cooperation by state and municipal governments in enforcement of the prohibition law was indicated today by reports to the treasury department from dry administrators.

In more than 50 per cent of the states the cooperation with the federal government was characterized as excellent and in all but a half dozen states there was some degree of effort put forth by the local governments to assist in enforcement of the law.

MISS LUCILE FOREMAN, East Church st., entertained the members of the Quest club at her home, last night for the annual election of officers. Those who will serve as officers next year are Miss Margaret Seiter, president; Miss Lela Brookshire, vice president; Mrs. Clyde Rembert, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell C. Dunlap, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carl May, treasurer. An executive board, consisting of Mrs. E. O. Smith, Miss Anna Parks and Miss Foreman, was also appointed. Mrs. D. N. Bobyer, Miss Jessie Henderson and Miss Mildred Crow will plan the program for next year.

Following the business meeting, the members completed the Mediterranean cruise which has comprised their programs for the last five months. The topics were based on Egypt. Miss Effie Oliphant gave an interesting paper on ancient Egyptian carving and the methods and tools the natives used for their work, followed by Mrs. E. O. Smith, who read a paper, "Egypt, the Gift of the Nile," which had been prepared by Miss Eloise Tschanen. Mrs. Ralph Wurst concluded the topic discussion with a paper on "From Alexandria to Cairo." Miss Helen Atchinson added to the interest of the program with a piano solo, "Anitra's Dance."

"The Home" will be the discussion topic for the Jan. 27 meeting with Mrs. Russell C. Dunlap, Pearl st.

Recent Bride Honored

Honoring Mrs. H. N. Crowson, a recent bride, Mrs. William T. Bland entertained with a miscellaneous shower and bridge at the home of Mrs. V. L. Caston, 215 Spencer st., last night. A special delivery letter sent the guest of honor seventeen bridge, honors going to Miss Ruby Schraeder, Miss Mabel Spangler and Mrs. Harry Kern. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostess at individual tables lighted with tapers and decorated with a color scheme of pink and white, the bridal colors. The guests included Mrs. Crowson, Mrs. Wallace Thompson, Mrs. Harry Kern, Mrs. V. L. Caston and Misses Ruby Schraeder, Mabel Spangler, Mabel Stephens, Helen Connolly, Blanche Converse, Edith Augustine and Mayo Gibson.

Guests Entertained By Club Hostess

Miss Dorothy Richards, Miss Gladys Townsend, and Mrs. Irene VanGordan were the guests when the Jolly Stitchers club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Hoch, Edwards st. Honors in a contest were awarded Mrs. Albert Baughman and Mrs. Mary Brown. Mrs. VanGordan won the guest prize. A luncheon was served by the hostess. In two weeks Mrs. John Severns, Blaine av., will entertain the club.

Friends Entertained at J. C. Smythe Home

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smythe, Windsor st., were hosts to a party of friends last night at their home. Tables were arranged for cards, honors for high scores going to Miss Helen McCune and Edgar Costello. Mrs. Ralph Bennett and Donald Bateman won second honors.

An attractive two-course luncheon was served by the hostess to the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Costello, Mrs. Carl Gilliz, Miss Helen McCune and Donald Bateman.

"Now he's always hungry,"
... says CLEVELAND mother!

"GEORGIE is absolutely the picture of health again," says Mrs. G. L. Rogers, 8212 Decker Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. "A few weeks ago we had to force him to eat; now he's always hungry.

"I knew what to do when he became bilious, half-sick and listless, because we've always known about California Fig Syrup. Georgie's coated tongue and bad breath cleared up with the first few spoonfuls; and in just a few days his stomach and bowels were acting perfectly. He weighs 53 pounds now and is gaining right along."

California Fig Syrup has the full endorsement of the medical world. A pure vegetable product, loved by children. A gentle, but thorough cleanser of a youngster's system and a gentle energizer for sluggish bowels. A stimulator for lagging appetites and digestions; a help in building sturdy limbs and robust bodies.

The name California is important. No imitator can put that on his product.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Friday, and there will not be any school except Sunday school till Monday, and me and Jubilee can stand that all right. It was clear and cold this morning, but me and Jubilee didn't care. This is the year that our next vacation comes in, and we will maybe live till then. I would hate to live until vacation and then die just when it starts. I don't think I would like to die at any time, though I feel offal bad today, but not that bad.

I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, and put on my britches to milk the cow and her dotter and went down and fixed the fires and carried out the ashes and the bunch was there. When I went in the house to strain the milk Maggie and Feeble were there, but Younise wasn't, and I wanted to nat where she was, but I didn't want to so I didn't, and no one told me, but Feeble came and threw her arms around me and said, "Never mind, I love you." Then she hung on me so unexpected that we both fell down, and everyone laughed, but she was underneath and she got a bump, and when she got up she said, "What is the matter with you, man, don't you know how to hold a woman?" I said I knew how to hold a woman but not a slippery eel, and then she said I would be sorry some day for the way I treated her. I sot down to feed my face and didn't pay her any mind.

My tinkle got laid off yesterday for three months. The place where my tinkle works raised everybody's wages and then laid them off for three months. So I am going to have him around all the time, just like an ant wasn't enough.

Me and Jubilee went around past Younisses, and just when we got almost to her house she came out with her books to go to school, and I went to take her looks to carry them, and she said to go and carry Miss Parmer's books. All I could say was "Aw, Younise," but she walked away with her chin up, and someone hollered, "Carry mine, Thomas Aristides," and there was Feeble and Maggie following me and grinning at me; so then Younise poked her books at me and said, "Come on!" She was mad at me because I skated with Miss Parmer last night, but she wouldn't let me carry Feeble's books. Girls are funny. Feeble hollered, "Dog in the manger." But we didn't notice her. They had told the bunch, and when we went in the school yard the Last Bag of Tripe said "Hello, Mr. Parmer," to me, and got a punch in the nose that I had to stay after school for. Maybe Younise can munky with me and get away with it, but he can't.

My tinkle has got a pair of skates and he and Miss Parmer skated together till long after dark. He was late for supper, I don't care.

'The Secret Trail'

A Fascinating Mystery Story

SCOTLAND YARD GOES OUT AFTER ITS MAN

BY ANTHONY ARMSTRONG

THE STORY THUS FAR

Paris stir apprehensively and the underworld speculates as Jim Rezaire jauntily strides out from behind prison bars, a free man. Seated on a bench in St. James' Park, London, he feels reflected that Long Sam, his recognized partner, has escaped to America. He recalls the prison governor's parting words "to go straight" and chuckles softly to himself.

A seedy loafer who has followed Jimmie from the prison gates sits down on the bench, obstensibly to read a newspaper. In the course of a brief conversation Rezaire is told to call Park 8185 and ask for a Mr. Jack, who, as chief of operations, has a scheme to make "big money."

Rezaire, undecided as to what course he will pursue, goes to his hotel, where, in the lounge, he meets Vivienne, beautiful, attractive girl as Jimmie tells her, "as hard as ever." Vivienne confides to Jimmie to the extent of informing him that her present occupation is "shop-lifting on a grand scale," with the aid of a clever male man named Hyslop.

During dinner at the Savoy Jimmie decides to telephone Mr. Jack. He is told to be at the top of the steps leading up from The Mall to Waterloo Place at 10:30 tomorrow. Instinctively Rezaire realizes he is in touch with some one big.

Next day at the appointed time and place Jimmie meets Mr. Neasden. Drawing the line at murder Rezaire admits he is willing to engage in any venture that will net him quick money. They agree to meet that night at the Coin de Paradis, a restaurant in Warsaw street.

During lunch with Vivienne and Hyslop he reads in a newspaper of an airplane crash. Two military pilots have been killed while "The Murchison Sighter," a bomb-dropping apparatus, has mysteriously disappeared. International spies are suspected.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY

* * *

CHAPTER 8

IT WAS 9:50 when Jimmie Rezaire turned out of brightly lighted Shaftesbury avenue doubly bright by reason of wet pavements and a drizzle that caught and magnified the lamp rays. Rounding another corner, he was in Soho—that queer little piece of South Europe squeezed down into the middle of London.

His hands were deep in his pockets and he was sauntering along with a cigaret between his lips casting glances of keen enjoyment to either side. He had by no means finished savoring the pleasure of being a free man.

He had ascertained that Warsaw st. in which was the Coin de Paradis restaurant led off Greek st. next beyond Bateman st. and he soon reached the corner and turned into it.

It was a darker and narrower st. than Greek st. he noticed containing a few shops, shuttered at this late hour, a coffee bar, and many common little houses with an indefinable Italian air of secrecy about them. Some way up the street to the left he saw a lighted sign bearing the name he sought. Surveying the dark, wet street, almost deserted at this hour, he approved the choice of meeting place.

He looked at his watch. He was a trifle late, but he had sat long over his dinner. Luxurious and civilized meals were still an unattainable delight, as long as he kept his mind off his bank balance.

Fell at His Feet

He was nearly at his destination when without warning from a courtyard opening into the street just ahead of him and about three or four doors before the frontage of the Coin de Paradis, a man staggered out. In a muddled way he saw Jimmie and made for him, lurching in inebriated fashion. Rezaire drew back a pace, but the other came on and was only two yards away when he pitched forward with a maudlin cry, his outstretched hands scrabbling at Rezaire's feet.

"Well, he's pretty far gone," thought Jimmie and suddenly was aware of another man who had run out from the courtyard after the reveller, but had stopped at the sight of a stranger. "Friend of yours?" he continued out loud. "Tight as a lord, he seems."

"Yes, yes, isn't he?" agreed the other effusively and bent over the man, who was still lying as he had fallen, face downward. "Must loosen his collar," he added.

Rezaire made as if to help out the other said hurriedly: "No, no, it's all right."

Jimmie stood back and watched him curiously. Some little incongruity in the scene struck him, but before he could put a finger on it he noticed that though at first the newcomer had loosened the other's collar as he had said, his hands were now running busily over the recumbent figure as if searching him. Good Lord, he thought suddenly, he's going through his pockets. He was about to remonstrate when the other rose quickly to his feet as an obvious loafer attracted by the unusual sight came up at Jimmie's elbow.

"Tight as a lord," repeated the little man, and stood looking down at the figure. His back was still toward the nearest lamp so his head was bent so that his face remained in shadow, but he seemed to be pulling nervously at a mustache with quick jerky movements. The rain fell gently. More people arrived murmuring curiously, but did not interfere, a drunken man being primarily the business of his friends. No one attempted to move him.

"Well, we ought to put him in shelter," suggested Jimmie kind-heartedly. "He'll get his outside soaked as well as his inside." "Give a hand," he added to those about him.

Two or three bent to the figure and moved him, with lolling head, to a doorstep. Other passersby added themselves curiously to the group. A woman suddenly said in broken English:

"He see ill—seeck! Pas ivre!"

Certainly the figure's face was deathly white. Jimmie stooped closer. A vague and terrible suspicion slowly took shape. * * *

"Gor!" suddenly exclaimed a man behind him on a note of horror, one of those who had lifted the young fellow. "Gor!" He was staring incredulously at his hand. "Blood! It's been done in."

The murmur of the crowd rose to a horrified chatter in three languages as it surged convulsively inward.

"Good God!" cried Jimmie, looking at his own hands. On one of them were smears, while on the pavement, distinct even in the shadow cast by the encircling onlookers, was a dark smear slowly merging into the surrounding wetness of the rain.

Before any one could say more, a policeman, who had been passing down Greek street, was among them, a shiny caped figure of law.

Jimmie, an inquiry on his lips, looked round for the little man who had been with him first. To his amazement he found he was no longer there. He had disappeared into the wet night. He questioned eagerly, but no one had seen him go. With a shrug of the shoulders he let the matter drop. It was not his affair. He tried to edge away himself, but the voice of the policeman detained him.

As if by common consent the crowd stood back while the constable, after a brief examination of the body, dispatched a bystander for an ambulance, drew out his notebook and began to question Rezaire.

At the end of three-quarters of an hour it was all over and Jimmie, after explanations at the police station, was breathing again. For one ghastly minute he had thought that within a couple of days of emerging from prison he was finding himself accused of murder.

But he was quite safe. The testimony of the onlookers, and particularly that of a woman who had been at an opposite window, had made it quite clear that he had never touched the man at all the moment when with the others he had lifted him to the doorstep. Suspicion had naturally fallen on the small-mustached stranger who had followed the dead man out from the passageway, and had so obviously snatched at the suggestion of drunkenness. The police were already searching for him on the description that was supplied, for neither Jimmie nor any one else had seen his face in the light.

As he walked rapidly away from the police station Jimmie cursed his luck. As the principal witness, he was involved in the affair up to the neck, just when he wanted to keep clear of anything to do with the police. Not only had he had to disclose himself as an ex-convict to the station sergeant and the inspector (though he was pleased to see they were impressed by his identity), but he had also thought it best to explain—when asked for his name and address—that he was at the Grand Cross hotel under the name of Ferguson. This was annoying in that it meant he would have to change later if he wished to conceal himself properly for any other purpose of his own. Most annoying of all, he was now late for his appointment with the mysterious Mr. Neasden. Indeed, by this time the restaurant was probably closed.

He turned again into Warsaw st. and looked for the Coin de Paradis sign. It was not visible; it had been switched off. Underneath the restaurant was dark. Jimmie swore with feeling. It was long past 10:30 and, as he had guessed, the place had closed for the night. Thanks to this infernal business he had missed his meeting.

He walked on to the point where the dying man had fallen. There was a policeman on duty there, with several staring loafers whose curiosity was stronger than their dislike of the rain. There was also an obvious reporter and down the passage whence the dead man had staggered, which he now saw was a cul-de-sac, called Jewel court, with a few doors opening into it, there was a detective making an inquiry at an open doorway.

Jimmie passed the entrance to the courtyard and came to the restaurant about 10 yards beyond. Though the ground floor was dark there were lights in the first and second floor windows, so Jimmie, after a moment's thought knocked at the door—though without much hope. There was no answer, but the policeman turned and looked at him.

"Want anything?" he asked coming up to him.

"No," said Jimmie, as pleasantly as he could. He had not yet got over his dislike of police. "Just wondering if I was too late. It's not quite 11 yet."

"Ten to," replied the constable curtly.

"Is there a side door to this restaurant anywhere? In that courtyard back there perhaps?" asked Jimmie. Since the first floor light was on, he considered it quite possible Neasden might be waiting there yet and that there was another entrance beside the main one.

"No, there ain't," retorted the other with finality. "They're all private doors there, and anyway my orders is not to let any one past 'cept belonging to them houses."

Jimmie moved off without a word. He was annoyed about the whole matter, and wondered what was the best thing to do. Then he decided he would phone Vivienne that he could not lunch after all and would revisit the Coin de Paradis tomorrow at lunchtime, and if unsuccessful then at the same hour next evening, trusting to Mr. Neasden's common sense. He was not sure that he wouldn't have to change his mind about accepting Neasden's offer—at any rate till this murder had been finished with; for he knew he was in for a busy time with the police owing to the ill luck that had made him so important a witness.

A Possible Clue

He regained his hotel in a vile temper. As he undressed, his mind reverted to the events of the night to which hitherto he had not given much thought, except in so far as they had upset his own plans. He found himself wondering why the young man had been killed.

Figures, for the hours and minutes appear through openings in the face of a new automobile instrument board clock that lacks hands and is claimed to be more easily read than ordinary timepieces.

Love's Reawakening

The Story of a Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Roderick Can't Understand Why Grandma Was So Curious About the Reconciliation of the Boys

MY CLOSED door was not sufficient to shut out all sounds of the conference expedition of the two small boys to their grandmother's room. In the embarrassment and excitement their knock upon her door sounded like a drummer's long roll, and I found myself listening intently for my mother-in-law's answer to the summons.

She must have kept them waiting for several seconds, for I heard nothing and wondered whether she had admitted them in silence or had refused to open her door to any summons. Then I heard her voice, high-pitched and militant.

"Who sent you here?"

"Nobody, Granzie," Junior's voice shrilled. "We come all by ourselves because——"

"Come inside," she commanded, and then the door shut decisively, not to open again for nearly a quarter of an hour. But when at last I heard the clatter of voices again, I knew that the armistice had been signed, and I waited quietly but impatiently until the two pairs of small feet had raced back to the door behind which I sat, and two pairs of fists beat a tattoo upon it.

I opened it quickly, and as swiftly closed it behind the two lads, patently tense and eager to tell me of what had happened.

"Don't shout!" I admonished them. "Keep your voices low."

Junior looked up at me with such understanding in his twinkling eyes that I suddenly felt like a conspirator.

"She can't hear inside here with the door closed," he said.

I wasted no time in hypocritical pretense.

"I'm not sure of that," I said, "so be careful. Did you apologize nicely to her?"

"You bet your boots," Junior responded fervently, in the phraseology which he has learned from Katie, while Roderick's answer was an equally enthusiastic "Sure thing!"

"I am so glad," I answered, "and I am sure she was pleased."

Grandmother Was Skeptical

"She said she was 'awful' pleased to have us such good boys," Junior strutted a bit as he repeated his grandmother's encomium.

"But she kept asking us over and over whether you told us to come and say we were sorry," Roderick added his comment in puzzled tones. "And she wanted to know why we had changed our minds about shaking hands."

"What did you tell her?" I felt my nerve ends tingle as I visualized my mother-in-law's face should the boys have told her that they had agreed to shake hands at a veiled hint from me after a point-blank refusal of her request.

"Just what you told us to tell her," Junior protested. "We told her just as soon as we went in that we'd been thinking it over and had done what she said about shaking hands. And we kept telling her we thought of it all by ourselves, but she just couldn't seem to believe it at first. But after she's asked us 'bout a million times, and we'd told her the same thing, then I guess she began to believe us."

The Boys Are Wise

"She's funny," Roderick uttered this small boy indictment with finality. "When we were in her room before, all she wanted was to have us shake hands. And now when we told her we had, she didn't seem to care a bit about it. She just wanted to be sure we did it by ourselves. I guess she didn't like it that we did it for you when we didn't do it for her."

"Yes, that's it," Junior added his verdict of emphasis and gave me another glance of comradely secret understanding from twinkling eyes.

I felt exactly as if someone had dealt me an unexpected blow. I had realized vaguely that my young son was no longer a tiny boy, but it had not yet been brought home to me that he was "sizing up folks," to use a typically Ticorish phrase, and forming his own judgments concerning them. What impressions of me—of course, woman-like, I at once sounded the personal note—were going on behind those clear eyes?

"Never mind about Granzie now," I told them hastily. "You're done what you ought to do, and you needn't worry about anything else. And if you help me get Christmas greens tomorrow you must go to bed now."

"Oh-h! Gee!" Junior was jumping up and down now. "Are we going to take a lunch and build a fire and cook some bacon?"

"If the weather is all right," I hedged, for I never gave a promise outright, lest some unforseen happening compel me to break it. "Now, Junior, show Roderick where he is to sleep, and then both of you undress and get into bed. I'll come and tuck you up presently."

"And tell a story?" Junior said hopefully, and a warm little feeling stole round my heart. My boy must be growing up, but he was not growing away from me.

December Births in City Outnumber Deaths by Four

The stork finished four jumps ahead in its race with death in the city during December, according to vital statistics prepared by Miss Mary Ellen Kerr, secretary of the city board of health.

Thirty-nine babies, 20 girls and 19 boys, were born during the month. A total of 35 deaths were reported.

Organic heart disease led the list of causes of deaths, with four lives claimed by this disease. Inanition, senility, broncho-pneumonia, and chronic nephritis each claimed three lives; premature birth, still birth, capillary bronchitis, arterio sclerosis, and pulmonary tuberculosis were each listed with two deaths. The following are blamed for one death each: Angina pectoris, peritonitis, tumor, auto accident, septicemia, Bright's disease, valvular insufficiency, acute alcoholism, and mitral regurgitation.

FUND CERTIFICATES SENT TO OFFICIALS

County Auditor Furnishes Figures as Basis for Appropriations

The amount of money available for the maintenance of villages, townships and school districts for 1930 were certified to the clerks of the various districts by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas today. From these records the township officials will make their annual appropriations to their various funds.

Blanks on which village, township and school district clerks will make the annual report of the indebtedness of their respective districts have been sent the clerk by Auditor Thomas. Two copies of the report form have been sent each clerk. One is to be retained and the other is to be returned to the auditor.

Auditor Thomas has asked the clerks to complete their debt report immediately as the report for the entire county must be forwarded to the auditor of state at once.

Funeral of Cemetery Superintendent Takes Place at Epworth Church

Last rites were held today for Edward A. Sloan, 620 Delaware av., superintendent of Marion Cemetery association, who died Tuesday night at his home. Services were held at 2 o'clock in Epworth M. E. church, in charge of Dr. C. E. Turney, pastor, and Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M.

Honorary pallbearers were J. G. Leffler, C. C. Fisher, H. B. Hane, C. D. Schaffner, Ray R. King, H. J. Merchant, W. T. Jones and John J. Stafford. H. R. Waddell, Fred L. Carhart, E. T. Smart, William A. Mountsinger, C. M. Phillips, and John H. Bartram, were active pallbearers.

In courtesy to Mr. Sloan, who cared for the Marion cemetery since 1907, the funeral directors of the city furnished cars for the honorary pallbearers and the florists took care of the flowers.

The body lay in state at the church from 1 to 2 o'clock. Interment was made in Marion cemetery.

JURY FAILS TO RETURN VERDICT

Case of Olive Green Residents Heard in Morrow County Court

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 10—A jury of 11 men and one woman disagreed, after two hours' deliberation, as to the charge of assault and battery against Mr. and Mrs. John Huddleston and Mrs. Myrtle Pumphery. The case was heard in the common pleas court of Judge W. C. Vaughan here Wednesday and Thursday. The three were charged with attacking and beating Mrs. Kathryn Gallegher, a sister of the two women, on the night of Nov. 21, 1928.

Mrs. Pumphery and Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston are residents of Olive Green. On the day of the alleged attack Mrs. Pumphery had sold the filling station where the attack occurred to E. L. Ferrell of Marengo who left Mrs. Gallegher in charge of the station. According to the testimony the accused, with two other men, appeared at the station that evening to remove Mrs. Pumphery's personal effects and attempted to also remove some tables, rugs and other articles which had been sold. A fight resulted and Mrs. Gallegher, formerly a private detective in Columbus, was beaten with a flashlight and other weapons.

The defendants were represented by Judge E. M. Wickham, of Delaware, and Prosecuting Attorney Frank Myers was assisted by T. E. Mateer and P. H. Wieland, local attorneys. During a part of the trial the courtroom held many spectators a large percentage of them being residents of the neighborhood where the alleged assault occurred.

The state called Mrs. Gallegher, the prosecuting witness; E. L. Ferrell, owner of the station; Mrs. E. L. Ferrell, James Neal, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell, L. J. Hester, justice of the peace of Bennington township; L. L. Hunt, constable of the township, who with Sheriff Leslie Tischer, arrested the defendants. The state rested their case Wednesday afternoon.

The defense called the defendants who gave their version of the affair; Jacob C. Chase, justice of the peace of Porter township, Delaware county; Connor Lambert, former sheriff of Delaware county; Mrs. Pearl Blair, of Richwood, and Edward Saunders, and Milo Owens, of Olive Green, who were present to help Mrs. Pumphery's guests.

Arguments of the attorneys were heard yesterday morning and the case went to the jury at 2 o'clock. After two hours' deliberation they came in to report the verdict and as they were unable to agree they were discharged by the court.

The case will be heard again in May with a different jury. The trial of Mrs. Pumphery on a charge of arson growing out of the same situation, will also be held over until the May term.

The jury consisted of F. Beck, C. H. Bricker, Mrs. William Le Fever, Orla Grice, Harry Wood, foreman, William Powell, Clay Snyder, Ralph Moon, Thomas A. Liggett, Jeffry Hearn, Daniel Long and George Bigelow.

COSSACK CHORUS ON MARION PROGRAM

RUSSIAN COSSACKS

SERGEI SOCOLOFF, Russian director of note, will personally direct the Russian Cossack Chorus coming to Marion Tuesday night to present a program of music at the Star Auditorium.

The Cossacks of Russia have a romantic and hardy history. They lived on the outskirts of Russia to protect her against invasion, and there developed the heroic epic in which they expressed in music their exploits, hardships and their happiness. The full burden of Russia's grief and the ancient and grim beauty of her traditions is blended in Cossack harmonies.

Seat reservations for this music program will be made Monday and Tuesday at Harding High school. This number is the third and most outstanding on the senior class entertainment course this year.

U. B. CHURCH FORMS NEW ORGANIZATIONS

Three Additional Groups Launched in Church Day Observance

Church day at First United Brethren church, celebrated yesterday, saw the addition of 14 women to the Ladies' Aid society and the Woman's Missionary society, and the formation of a Junior Christian Endeavor society, a Catechetical class, organization of a Junior choir and the appointment of a committee to organize an orchestra.

The day's program opened at 10 o'clock with the Ladies' Aid society and Woman's Missionary society holding a joint meeting. In the morning the Ladies Aid members put on a program and enrolled two members. The Woman's Missionary society enrolled 12 members in the afternoon. Dinner was served at noon at the church.

At a meeting of the junior boys and girls at 4 o'clock, a Junior Christian Endeavor society, with Mrs. P. B. Carrier as superintendent, was organized, together with a catechetical class. Miss Virginia Fowler was named to take charge of the Junior choir which was organized. The Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor, will open the catechetical class Jan. 18 at 10 o'clock at the church.

Miss Katie Cromer was appointed chairman to name a committee for the orchestra which will be organized soon.

Last night there was a large attendance at the church meeting. The Rev. Mr. Roop preached on "The Church at Sardis." Miss Fowler led the singing, and sang a special solo, "The Friend of Man." At the close of the services a half-hour "get-together" social time was enjoyed. A short meeting of the executive board of the Sunday school was held.

Tonight the Rev. Mr. Roop will preach on "The Church at Philadelphia." The newly organized Junior choir will sing two numbers.

New Business To Open on State St. Saturday

Brashares Co., selling Chromite wall tile and a line of Lucas paints, will open rooms at 140 North State st. Saturday, according to announcement by Bert Brashares, 268 Monroe st., today.

The new wall tile, for which the company will have the exclusive agency for this district, is used for bathroom and kitchen walls.

In connection with the new store, which will be managed for the present by George Landon, Mr. Brashares will continue to work as cashier at the freight office of the Hocking Valley railroad.

DeCliff Aid Society Holds All-Day Meet

DECLIFF, Jan. 10—The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Montgomery at an all-day meeting Wednesday. The time was spent in piecing quilt blocks and at the noon hour a cafeteria dinner was served, followed by the business meeting. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Otto Roux. Mrs. Margaretta Watkins and son were guests. Mrs. Charles Smeltzer won the guessing box. It was voted to reelect the old officers for another year. The next meeting will be with Mrs. William Tron, Feb. 12.

Investment Company To Produce Records

Assurance that books and records of the F. H. Smith Co., investment brokerage house which is being investigated by federal authorities in New York City, will be produced by officers of the company next Monday, was given investigators in a settlement made yesterday by the company's attorney, according to press dispatches from New York.

L. R. Crissinger, former Marion attorney and banker, is one of the seven officials of the Smith company recently indicted by the federal grand jury at Washington on charges of using the mails to defraud. An effort is now being made to have additional indictments returned in New York City, where the cases are now lodged.

Marion Friends Going to Barrett Funeral

A number of Marion friends of the late Michael Barrett, president of the Crawford county board of commissioners, are planning to attend his funeral, to be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Barrett home in Galion. Mr. Barrett was a former employe of the Erie railroad company, having been in its service as a conductor for 32 years.

Athletic Parson Appearing at Local Church Trains Son as Boxer; Hopes To Win Olympic Championships

"IT is our greatest hope that Billy will win the Olympic boxing championship of the world and I am training him with this point in view."

Most of us cannot grasp such an idea coming from a minister, especially an evangelist. But it was the Rev. W. N. LaMance, evangelist conducting services at Epworth M. E. church speaking for his wife and himself concerning the future of their son while being interviewed in his room in a local hotel yesterday.

Two years ago the world was startled at newspaper reports of a minister training his son to be a boxer. He acted as a second to his son's corner and at other wrestling matches he served as referee and as a judge. Through this worldwide publicity he gained the title of "the athletic parson." And his looks are in keeping with his title. In spite of his 50odd years, there is not a gray hair on his head and he looks to be in perfect condition through maintaining strict training rules. In his high school and college life he gained considerable fame as a wrestler and boxer.

IT has been mighty hard for Mr LaMance to overcome the prejudices of the people after they learned that he was training his son to be a boxer. In fact, it almost caused him to give up his chosen work with the church but the determination that carried him to the college wrestling and boxing championships is guiding his fight to introduce amateur sports into the activities of the church.

"I owe the life of my son to athletics", he said as he launched into an explanation of why he is sending him through a career in sports. "At five years of age Billy was not expected to live after five attacks of pneumonia. But I ignored the physicians, purchased a pair of boxing gloves and started training him. Billy soon regained his health and soon was an healthy as a normal lad. But I did not stop at this point and his training continued. Today, in addition to being a boxer, the pneumonia-stricken youth of 18 years ago is a star football and basketball player in college. He weighs 185 pounds."

"Billy had his first 'public' fight when he was 17", he continued. "That was a gruelling battle fought in a restaurant." A smile of satisfaction passed over the evangelist's face as he said "And he won it with a knockout."

• • •

THAT started the lad on a career for the youth. He gradually moved up the ladder of success until now he holds the amateur light-heavyweight championship of Illinois. He has appeared on amateur cards in many large cities including New York. Now his goal is a victory in the Olympics when the International event is held in Los Angeles.

The more mention of professional sport brought a sharp retort from Mr. LaMance.

"I am not interested", he said. "What professional boxing and wrestling needs is a good cleaning up. And it is coming to that rapidly."

"Amateur sports", he maintained, "are the coming things in athletic entertainment." "Even now amateur boxing and wrestling are quite popular in many sections of the country."

The Rev. Mr. LaMance's platform for the churches of the country calls for a program of athletic activities. He says it serves the purpose of attracting the young and many of the older persons into the church. It is a modern idea, he pointed out, but religion is broad enough to absorb all modern ideas. The opposition against the amateur sport activities is gradually growing less powerful each year. But the opponents are louder than the boosters to the plan, he said.

HARDING TO START DIFFICULT LEAGUE SCHEDULE TONIGHT

Locals Will Play Mansfield in Star Auditorium at 8:15 O'clock

STARTING a difficult schedule in the North Central Ohio league, Harding High school basketeers tonight will play Mansfield in Star auditorium. The preliminary tilt is booked for 7:15 o'clock with the main go an hour later.

Two X. C. C. quints will be cast on the local floor within the next week. And both of them are the leading contenders for the league pennant. Next Friday night Bucyrus will appear on the Star court.

Coach Bibb's Cougars got their work through a light workout last night as the finishing touch to a week of intensive practice. The local coach is expecting his men to give a good account of themselves against the Mansfielders.

Coach Murphy, who this year is separated the split team system, is taking no chances with the Harding quint. He will combine his home and road teams so that the Presidents will face the strongest possible competition in tonight's affair.

FACULTY COMMITTEE PROBES IOWA CASES

Membership of Western Conference Investigating Group Changed

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 10—A reviewed committee of Western conference faculty officials is scheduled to arrive here today to investigate the cases of 13 athletes declared ineligible when the University of Iowa was dropped from the Big Ten.

Personnel of the committee has been changed to include Prof. W. J. Moore, Khaki of Indiana, and Prof. Thomas French of Ohio State, chairman of the eligibility committee.

Illness of Prof. Ralph Aigler of Michigan and the departure of Prof. O. F. Long of Northwestern for Europe was said to have brought the changes.

National Junior Meet Is Changed to Detroit

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—The national junior track and field championships, originally scheduled for Baltimore on Feb. 22, has been shifted to Detroit, Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U. has announced.

Inability of Baltimore to secure a suitable armory was given as the cause of the change.

EAGLES TO SPONSOR FIGHT CARD JAN. 20

WITH two bouts sure, a third probability is expected to make the first fight card of the new year when the Eagles present a 10-round mill card at their rooms on West Center st. on Monday night, Jan. 20.

The fight program will mark the return of the Eagles into the athletic promotion field. Cards will be staged on a two weeks at the local club during the winter season it was announced today.

Featuring the card will be Leo Horvath of Toledo and Leo Genet of Barberton. The two boys will go six rounds at 135 pounds.

Horvath, better known as the Toledo assassin, is a favorite of local fans. In his appearances here last fall he packed a wicked punch and a willingness to mix it. In his last 45 bouts he has won 38 by knockouts.

His opponent is another good boy. He is well known in northern and eastern Ohio boxing circles.

Three six-round bouts and a curtain raiser will complete the card. In the semi-final Louis Adamski of Toledo meets Benny Tavanello of Barberton at 145 pounds. The main preliminary features Herman Grate of Toledo and Battling Garchia of Barberton, Guy Schroeder of Marion will meet George Marion of Barberton in the first preliminary.

Y-INDUS FIVE SEEKS 8TH WIN AT BEE GEE

Play Reserves of College; Holds Second Win Over Fostoria Quintet

Bowling Green will be the next stopping point for the Y-Indus Rambler. Saturday night the locals will journey to the northern Ohio city for a battle with the Bowling Green college reserves.

The locals are handicapped this week by the illness of four players. Slack, Feger, Roach and Lockwood are unable to appear in the starting lineup.

Presenting its weakest front of the season, the Y five Wednesday night won its seventh start in nine games by defeating Fostoria in a rough and tumble contest, 48 to 40.

Gillis was high scorer for the locals with 18 points. Cline and Cram each counted nine while Osterholt and Church were good for six points each.

REISELT WILL PLAY LAYTON FOR TITLE

Champion Rules Slight Favorite To Retain His Cue Crown

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—The 1930 residency of the world's three-cushion billiard championship will be decided here tonight when Johnny Layton, present titleholder, meets Otto Reiselt, lanky Philadelphian.

This game became the deciding factor in the title last night when Augie Kieckhefer, little left-hander from Chicago, was defeated by Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 26 in 38 innings. A victory by Kieckhefer and another this afternoon over Allen Hall would have resulted in a play-off for the championship. Now it's all Layton and Reiselt.

The champion is a slight favorite to retain his crown.

Garden Officials Wring Hands on Eve of Battle

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—A lot of perfect gentlemen, who ordinarily don't believe in parlor games without a chaperone, will be sitting with their fingers crossed tonight right up there in the deacon's pew at Madison Square Garden while Otto Von Porat and Paulino, the human simian, serve 10 rounds or less on the old sock (correct) pile. It won't be more than 10 rounds but it may be less and that is why the Wall-Street directorate of the Garden will be holding hands right out in public. They fear that something may happen whereby this pair will get time off for good behavior.

What they fear is that good, old Otto will pop the other clown on the potato before the schedule finish and so make a nice, round hole in their $250,000 investment in the Sharkey-Scott show at Miami. A knockout of Paulino would mark the first time that par has been broken on this course, meaning that the simian has been popped often but never permanently. Therefore, the man who does it—and it won't be long now—will look all too good in comparison with the others.

Nearly all of them, except Sharkey, have had their shot at the man's chin. Schmeling couldn't knock him off in 15 rounds. As for Scott, he went as far as the sixth with Paulino and then was forced to stop because of a pain in his stomach. It was only a coincidence that Paulino had just bit him there.

In view of this circumstance, among others, it would do the Miami show no good in a big way if Paulino doesn't finish on his own feet for the first time in his career, for then the customers would become inquisitive about Scott's selection for Miami. Unfortunately, an inquisitive customer is seldom a buyer.

Unfortunately, too, the Garden couldn't take each querulous gent out on some windy corner and explain carefully that the knockout wasn't so much, because, Paulino was all washed and ready for the ironing. The customers won't want post mortems; they will want to know why, if Paulino was so mucky laundered, somebody didn't iron him long ago. You usually answer that kind by courteously changing the subject.

Anyhow, Otto gets the break of a life time in coming back to the Garden only a month after his fiasco with Scott. Paulino may not go out for the first time, particularly in a fight limited to 10 short heats, but the chance is there and Von Porat can ask no more than that, after the Scott business.

The odds, at that, favor Paulino and the Garden crowd is hoping that the boys aren't in error on this point. As a matter of fact, if Paulino and Von Porat never show up tonight, it will be premature, as far as the Garden is concerned. That's the kind of a smart match they have made for themselves this time.

Gizzling costs nothing except through a pay telephone.

WILL SET DATES FOR TWO GOLF TOURNEYS

Golf Association To Name Captain of Walker Cup Team

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—Chief among the items expected to be settled when the executive committee of the United States Golf association meets today is the fixing of the dates for the women's and amateur championships and the selection of a captain of the Walker cup team that sails for England on April 30.

With the exception of Roger D. Leigham of San Francisco, and Harry Hotter of St. Louis, all the members of the board are expected to reach New York sometime during the day. A. S. Kerry of Seattle, who is named on the 1930 executive committee is here from the coast and others who have arrived include Charles Dexter of Buffalo and Herbert Jacques of Boston.

Bobby Jones, open champion, and Harrison Johnson, amateur king, both members of the executive committee are in the city.

Preliminary to the meeting of the association tomorrow, the greens division holds its yearly session today.

Snyder, Miller, Rife Star in Shovel Games

In contest played last night in the Marion Steam Shovel league, The Accountants and Production teams emerged with victories. With Snyder and Miller starring, the Accounts chalked up a 2540-42 victory over the Spades. Minute Inf the Production point to a win over the Stenotypists 27 to 23. Rife was high point man for the losers.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.
To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvine; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvine at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Delegates to the state meeting the first week in April, at Oxford, O., will be Mrs. George E. Frank, Mrs. Ray R. Klaz, Mrs. James B. Guthery, and Mrs. George B. Scofield. Mrs. S. L. Leeka, Miss Emma Thompson, Miss Berenice Christine, Mrs. Charles Waters, Miss Sarah Cooper, Mrs. James A. Williams, Mrs. W. J. Rowley, Mrs. J. L. Hoover, and Mrs. Jay D. Malsh were named as alternates.

The state meeting will mark the dedication of the Carolyn Scott Harrison Memorial to Mrs. Harrison, wife of President Benjamin Harrison, and first president general of the D. A. R.

Alternates to the Continental Congress will be Miss Emma Thompson, Mrs. George E. Frank, Mrs. Merrill Turney, Mrs. J. L. Hoover, Miss Sarah Cooper, Mrs. Roy Gottschall, Mrs. Fred Hoch, Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. S. K. Gorham, and Mrs. Millard Hunt.

Mrs. W. L. Tobey, state regent, has asked Captain William Hendricks chapter to send one of its members to the Continental Congress to act as a page. Mrs. Thomas H. Sutherland was chosen.

At the close of the business a lunch was served and a social time enjoyed. The next meeting will be held Feb. 13.

REPORT SALES GROW IN VERNON HEIGHTS

Company Stockholders Receive Account of Year's Progress

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Vernon Heights Realty Co. was held yesterday afternoon at the company offices, 209 West Center st.

The sales in 1929 exceeded those of 1928 by more than 60 per cent, the annual report showed, listing an increase of building and sales during the year. Six new homes were completed, four of them of brick. Another brick home is now under construction.

Vernon Heights' third and fourth additions were accepted by the city and county authorities and filed for record during the year. The report showed that all improved streets in the subdivision were put in excellent repair during the year. The new portion of Vernon Heights blvd. was surfaced with Tarvia.

George E. Frank, Harry J. Mautz, Frank M. Knapp, Millard Hunt, Ray R. King, C. O. Fisher, and R. T. Lewis were elected to the board of directors for 1930. The board will meet some time within the next week to organize and elect officers for the ensuing year.

New Officers of Auxiliary Installed

Mrs. Nina Rettig was installed as past president, and Mrs. Mabel Donley as president, of Snowdrop division No. 107, G. I. A. to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at a meeting yesterday afternoon in Druids hall.

M. E. CONFERENCE CHANGES ADVOCATED

Recommendations Drawn Up at Meeting Held Yesterday in Lima

Recommendations for a reduction of districts in the Ohio M. E. Conference from 13 to 11, and that the salaries of all district superintendents of the conference be equalized, were among those drawn up at a meeting of M. E. district superintendents, ministers and laymen, yesterday in Lima.

Dr. C. E. Turley and John H. Clark, of Epworth M. E. church, were present. The recommendations will be presented to the Ohio Conference at the annual meeting next fall.

One pastor, one layman and the superintendent of each district represented the Methodist churches of Ohio at the meeting yesterday.

NEW EQUIPMENT IN AT MARION THEATER

House Reopened Today After Improvement of Sound Facilities

Work was finished early this morning on the $20,000 sound equipment improvements made at the Marion theater over Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week. Two musicians, two mechanical engineers from the Western Electric Co. at Chicago and two acoustical engineers from the Early Acoustical Engineering Co. of Chicago, were at work on the improvements.

The entire equipment at the theater was modernized, with sound equipment improved until the theater has been brought up to the standard of the Palace theater. Both houses are in the Public chain.

The walls of the theater were acoustically treated and redraped, and several features of the decorating were changed.

The theater is reopening today with Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "The Careless Age," and the continuing scenes of the serial picture, "King of the Kongo."

BLAME JEALOUSY FOR MURDER AND SUICIDE

Husband of Woman Seriously Wounded by Roomer in Toledo

TOLEDO, Jan. 10 — Jealousy, prompted by love, was the incentive in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mabel Follett, 25, and the serious wounding of her husband, Kenneth, 27, here today by Fred Stahl, 45, a roomer, who afterwards committed suicide, according to police.

The shooting took place in the Follett bedroom, according to early reports by police, while the couple's five-year-old boy, Kenneth, Jr., lay asleep in an adjoining room.

Follett, police say, ran out of his home, with a wound in the right temple. Before losing consciousness, he gasped out the brief statement that Stahl had entered their bedroom, shot and killed Mrs. Follett as she lay in bed, then turned the gun on Follett and himself.

Police believe that Stahl was in love with Mrs. Follett. They say that Mrs. Follett was unaware of Stahl's affection, however.

When taken to the hospital, Follett, an insurance solicitor, said that Stahl had been out of work for six weeks. He expressed the belief that Stahl had suddenly gone insane.

Authorities held to the former motive.

Poets' Lives and Works on School Club Program

The Semper Altior members of Central Junior high school held their regular meeting Thursday at the school building.

Virginia Sillman, chairman, led the devotional period. It was decided to sell sweater emblems bearing the letters C. J. H. S., designed in green and white, the school colors. Open membership will be held again some time this year.

Trella Hemmerly, program chairman, announced that a group of programs of poet's lives and poems will be carried out in the following weeks.

"The Life of Longfellow," the topic for the program yesterday, was led by Jeanette Alexander. A report of the poet's early life was given by Maxine Alspach, followed by a paper on his later life, by Anna Marie Boeth. One of his poems was read by Phyllis Beam.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 16 at the school.

MOTORIST TO HAVE TRIAL BEFORE JURY

Ralph Emmons, 19, Accused of Driving Car While Intoxicated

Ralph Emmons, 19, of 502 Avondale ave., will stand trial before a jury in municipal court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The date for the trial was set as Jan. 16.

Emmons figured in an automobile wreck on South Prospect st. on Nov. 24 in which a Pontiac coach he was driving crashed into a Buick sedan of Miller E. Spencer, 258 Seffner av. The charge has been preferred against Emmons by Swaney.

Emmons was taken to City hospital following the accident, where he was thought to have had a fractured skull. His recent recovery made it possible to arraign him in municipal court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He entered a plea of not guilty and was released on $500 bond.

Following is a list of the jurors drawn for the week:

Mrs. Anna Jeffers, 211 South High st.; Ida B. Bell, Lafine; Mrs. Claudine E. Clifton, Lafine; Frank M. Marshall, 151 South Vine st.; B. F. Ackley, Marion, R. F. D. No. 4; James E. Phillips, 885 Mt. Vernon av.; A. C. Brown, Agosta; T. M. Cunningham, 808 East Church st.; R. H. Breese, 513 Hane av.; George Musselman, Prospect; Lewis B. Anderson, Morral; Arthur C. Bender, Marion, R. F. D. No. 5; Mrs. Elyse Bonner, 478 Delaware av.; J. W. Hungate, 526 Girard av.; William H. Derringer, 913 Dacids st.; Mrs. Mary Miley, 203 South Seffner av.; James E. Chambers, 193½ East Center st.; Samuel Lippincott, 632 East Center st.; Frank McKeever, 658 Oak st.; Bertha A. Baesler, Marion, R. F. D. No. 7.

The law firm of Carhart & Warner is expected to represent Emmons in the case.

DECEMBER RECORDS VARIETY OF WEATHER

Thunderstorm and Near Zero Wave Provide Spring and Winter Mixture

A combination of half-winter and half-spring weather was recorded by the weatherman, for December in this district, according to the records of Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, local weather observer.

Probably one of the outstanding features recorded was a thunderstorm on Dec. 13. Five degrees above zero was the minimum temperature for the month and was followed by a maximum of 58 on Dec. 15. Rainfall reached the 6.52 mark and snow rounded the 11-inch record.

During the month there were 10 cloudy, eight partly cloudy and four clear days. On Dec. 10 there was a heavy fog in the morning and sleet and hail on Dec. 18 raised the record for the month.

According to the predictions of the weatherman, this district is due for a season of warm weather for the last of January and the month of February.

FILES SUIT TO HALT OUSTING OF HOPKINS

Man Would Stop Action Until "Efficient" Manager Is Found

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—A new move to prevent any attempt of Cleveland's city council to oust City Manager William R. Hopkins was taken today when a suit, enjoining Mayor John D. Marshall and the city council from removing the city manager, was filed in common pleas court here.

The suit was filed in the name of William F. Staniforth, and, if granted, would prevent the ouster proceedings planned by the Republican majority of Cleveland's council. The suit is based on a section of the Cleveland city charter which provides that a manager is not appointed for any definite time and "shall not be removed at the pleasure of the council."

This section also holds that if removed at any time after he has served for six months, the city manager may demand written charges and a public hearing in council prior to the final removal date.

In bringing the suit, Staniforth declared that he did not want any one to replace Hopkins "until a man of equal efficiency is obtained."

A motion for an immediate hearing is expected to be filed tomorrow. The injunction plea will probably be heard Monday.

Tells Why Christians Are in Lukewarm Class

Christians become lukewarm because of lack of study of the Bible, lack of prayer and by not associating with Christian people, the Rev. W. N. LaMance declared in his evangelistic sermon at Epworth M. E. church last night.

His sermon topic was "Creeping Shadows," based on the text, "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou were cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth." Rev. 3:15-16.

The feature lecture of the three weeks' services which the Rev. Mr. LaMance will conduct here will be the free lecture tonight on "Ten Reasons Why Marriage is a Failure." The minister has issued a special invitation to all single people.

CONDUCT RITES.

ASHLEY, Jan. 10—Funeral services for Clark Smythe, 37, who died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Smythe, Sunday were conducted at the home, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. H. E. Stone officiating. Burial was made in the Ashley cemetery.

SOCIETY MEETS.

Stewardship Demonstration Feature of Program at M. E. Church

A monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of Epworth M. E. church was held yesterday afternoon in the Junior room of the church, opening with sentence prayers and a song, "Jesus Calls Us, Over the Tumult."

A short business session was followed by an interesting program. Mrs. Glen Studebaker presented two piano solos, "In an Old-Fashioned Garden" and "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

An impressive stewardship demonstration was given by Mrs. Wiley Messenger, Mrs. L. S. Irey, Mrs. F. A. Boyer, Mrs. Wooster Sifritt, Mrs. C. H. Rinehart, Mrs. Pearl Vaughorn, Mrs. E. E. Parish and Mrs. F. B. Morrison.

Mrs. C. E. Turley sang a solo, "I Want My Life To Count for Jesus," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Studebaker. Mrs. W. N. LaManee, wife of the evangelist at Epworth church, closed the program with a talk.

Refreshments were served by the January committee, with Mrs. G. W. Hinnamon as chairman. The next meeting will be held Feb. 13.

Out-of-Town Friends Attend Ashley Rites

ASHLEY, Jan. 10—Funeral services for Miss Ailee Randolph, 40, who died at the McMillan hospital, Shepard, Saturday, were conducted at the home her mother, Mrs. Lucy Randolph, here at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mrs. Anna Purington, of the Stantontown A. C. church and Rev. William Shoemaker, Ashley, were the officiating ministers. Temporary interment was made in the local mausoleum. Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ott Douglass, of Galion; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncy Ott, of Martel; Mr. Dave Douglass, of Iberia; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Douglass, of West Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Randolph and son William, of Columbus.

OFFICERS OF LABOR UNION BEGIN DUTIES

Installation Held at Meeting of Local Machinists' Lodge

Lloyd Robinson will serve as president of Marion Lodge No. 1056, International Association of Machinists for 1930-31 as a result of the installation ceremonies last night in the Union hall.

Other officers installed are: Edward Moore, vice president; William Stevens, financial secretary; Ray Strawser, secretary; Richard Chandler, treasurer; James Hannegan, sentinel; William Taylor, councillor; L. E. Gest and H. Williams, trustees. Applications for membership were received and voted on and nine new members were initiated.

The newly-elected president named committees for the coming year. After a business session, a luncheon was served by the social committee. A program of songs was furnished by Dominic Terzo. Ray Strawser gave a discussion on the Axton Fisher Tobacco question and the manufacture of cigarets. William Simmons discussed the patronage of the union. The next will meet again Jan. 23.

KNIGHTS ARE HOSTS

Marion Commandery Entertains at Dinner and Dance

Marion Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar, in full uniform, were hosts at a 6 o'clock dinner and dance last night in Masonic temple. There were approximately 80 couples present.

Music for dancing was furnished by Bertram D. Myers and his Marion Masonic orchestra. The dinner was served by the women of Lydia Chapter No. 83, Order of Eastern Stars.

C. L. Price, chairman, F. W. Little, Paul Eyres, of Upper Sandusky, and Albert Mauz, were a committee in charge of the affair.

YOUTH TAKES LIFE

HUDSON, Jan. 10—The specter of tragedy strode grimly through the dormitories of Western Reserve academy here today following the suicide of Richard Howe, 17, of Buffalo, N. Y., an honor student who shot himself with a small caliber rifle in his room at the school.

CITY FINANCE HEADS TO SLASH BUDGETS

$14,000 Must Be Pared Off Amounts Asked by Department Heads

Finance committee of city council and other city officials today were sharpening knives and looking forward to paring $14,000 total from tentative budgets of various city departments heads in an effort to complete the appropriation ordinance for 1930.

Total contributions of approximately $77,000 from the county auditor for allow officials $9,000 less for city operations during 1930 than it had in 1929, according to officials. Yet the so called "final estimates" of the city, or expenses which cannot be pared, increase substantially each year in the form of increased meals and police and firemen's salaries, addition fire hydrants and street car repairs.

Department heads asked [illegible] nearly $87,000 more for 1930 than the city can possibly receive, it was announced today that the finance committee when it drawsup its annual appropriation ordinance, to be submitted to council next Monday night.

Of the $77,000, a total of $[illegible] remains to be pared, and, according to one in "That will come right."

... the ham has a specially ... depends considerably on ... used for basting. In the old ... Alsatian householder used ... sherry or champagne, which ... the meat a most delicious ... Nowadays we use fruit juices ... some spices with a re... good.

Baked Ham

... ham

1 carrot.
1 tomato.
2 oranges.
1 lemon.
3 cupfuls of cider.
1 cupful of hot water.
Whole cloves.
Fine cracker crumbs.

Place the ham in a roaster with the sliced onion, carrot and tomato, and pour over the juices, strained oranges, lemons and the other liquids. Bake for several hours depending on the size of the ham allowing about 20 minutes to each pound. Baste frequently with the juices and keep the roaster covered. When tender (which will be at the end of four or five hours, more or less) remove the skin. Sprinkle with cracker crumbs, a little sugar, and stick in a few whole cloves. Place under the boiler to brown, turning on all sides. Skim and strain the gravy, thicken with a little flour and serve hot.

Late Supper Ham

2 teaspoonfuls of butter.
1 tablespoonful of made mustard.
3 tablespoonfuls of catsup.
1 teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce.
1 cupful of grape juice.
Sliced ham.
Rounds of toast.

Melt butter in a large saucepan, add seasonings and when well heated through add the nearly sliced rounds of ham. Toast rounds of bread in the oven and place a slice of ham evenly on each piece of toast, cover with sauce and serve hot.

Breakfast Ham

1 tablespoonful of made mustard.
2 tablespoonfuls of lemon juice.
1 teaspoonful of sugar.
Thinly sliced ham.

Brown the thin slices of ham in the frying-pan, then remove to hot plate. To the ham juice in the pan add the above ingredients, and when well blended, pour over the ham.

Ham and Mushrooms—

2 tablespoonfuls of butter.
1 tablespoonful of flour.
2 cupfuls of milk.
1 cupful of mushrooms.
1 pimiento.
2 cupfuls of diced ham.
Parsley.

Melt the butter and cook the mushrooms until tender. (Mushrooms may be cut into small sections, or the caps and stems left whole). Add the chopped green pepper and pimiento. When soft thicken with flour dissolved in cold milk and stir smooth. Last, add the diced ham. Serve in a little ramekins, sprinkled with a few bread crumbs and browned under the broiler. Or merely pour on toast points, garnishing with parsley or slices of hard-boiled egg.

PROSPECT SOCIETY HAS SEWING MEET

Missionary Group Holds Program Session; Jolly Stitchers Are Entertained

PROSPECT, Jan. 10—Members of the Ladies Aid society of the Baptist church held an all day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Mounts. The time was spent knotting comforters and at noon a dinner was served, covers being placed for 28 members and 17 guests.

During a short business session it was voted to pay the sum of $50 on the church bonds and $50 during the next six months for current expenses. Arrangements were made for a supper in the church basement Jan. 25.

Mrs. John Q. Penry, Mrs. Harvey Allmendinger and Mrs. A. L. Emerton were named a nominating committee for the annual election of officers to be held at the next meeting in one month.

* * *

Present Program

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. F. M. Hazen Tuesday afternoon. Roll call was answered by New Year's thoughts. Leaflets were read by Mrs. C. W. Sulzbach, Mrs. John Cheney and Mrs. Harold Anson. A poem, "The Way to Happiness," was read by Mrs. J. M. Sites. Interesting things about the annual report were given by Mrs. W. M. Keller, and enigmas were led by Mrs. F. M. Hazen. Refreshments were served.

Club Meets

* * *

The Jolly Stitchers held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. James Mohen Tuesday. A covered dish dinner was served at the noon hour. During the business session the new officers took their places. They are: president, Mrs. Edward Johnson; vice president, Mrs. Harvey Fox; secretary, Mrs. Leo Wolf; treasurer, Miss Irva Jacobs.

The time was spent socially. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lee Griffith.

GETS INFORMATION

Congressman Mouser Visits U. S. Veterans' Hospital in New York

Congressman Grant L. Mouser, Jr., of the Eighth Ohio district, recently visited the U. S. Veterans' hospital in New York City to obtain first hand information to aid him in considering proposed new legislation, according to a press report from Washington. The proposed legislation relates to improved treatment of veterans suffering from mental disorders.

Congressman Mouser was aided in his quest for information at the New York hospital by Dr. Chester L. Carlisle, formerly of Marion, who is the clinical director of the hospital.

Mouser's experience in the army is proving of assistance to him in his consideration of the proposed legislation, the report states. During the World war he was attached to the army medical school at Yale university and [illegible] hospital at Plattsburg, N. Y.

Tramps Rob, Beat and Tie Farmer To Stove

TOLEDO, Jan. 10—Two tramps, who robbed and beat a farmer and then tied him to a hot stove, are being sought by police today. Fred Hetterman, who offered the tramps something to eat, was the victim. He regained consciousness and managed to free himself before he was seriously burned.

TRAINER FATALLY HURT

SIDNEY, Jan. 10—William Reeves, 63, former race horse driver and trainer, is dead today as the result of injuries which he received at a crossing near Anna, near here, yesterday, when he attempted to flag down a traction car which he wished to board.

AUDITOR INDICTED

PIQUA, Jan. 10—Omer Patterson, former city auditor, today stands indicted on charges of embezzling the funds of the city of Piqua. He is alleged to have obtained $4,200 by his manipulations.

An explosive, known as "thermit," and powerful enough to shatter large bergs, is a mixture containing iron oxide and aluminum. On explosion it gives off a gas which, in theory, should splinter the largest iceberg.

Court Upholds Theater Manager's Conviction

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 10—With the court of appeals upholding the conviction of Joseph Stern of Ironton, on charges of operating his theater on Sunday, it was believed today that the theaters would remain closed there on that day. The appellate court decision was a triumph for the old blue laws.

CREAMERY BUTTER

In these pages, our fresh churned Creamery Butter is advertised by Home Grocers as cheap as 36c per pound.

This is the cheapest price that fresh churned Creamery Butter has sold in the past 12 years. At these prices, spread your butter on thick—use it for cooking.

There is no substitute for Creamery Butter as a food. Margarine is only a substitute as a spread. All margarines are made from cheap cocoanut oils that are imported from the Pacific Islands, duty free, costing from 6c to 8c per pound. Twenty per cent of moisture and salt is added and sold to the public at (?c.)

101-Year-Old Civil War Veteran Likes To Dance; Says World Is Getting Worse

FREMONT, Jan 10—"I'd rather dance than eat," said Major O. E. Barber, Civil War veteran, who is 101 years old, and in the same breath he sharply criticized modern youth.

"Yes, I like modern dances," he said in reply to a question. "They've got it all over the old-fashioned ones. I don't care for jazz music, though."

The aged trooper earned the title of the "youngest of old men" last fall when he traveled 2,000 miles, all by bus, to go to the Old Soldiers' Annual National Encampment at Denver, Colo., and after he arrived there he "danced with all the ladies present," according to his own statement.

Major Barber carries himself nearly as erectly as when he wore the Blue uniform during the Civil war. His voice is brisk and his gestures are emphatic.

"What do you think of modern youth?" a reporter inquired.

"Bah!" he replied. "Loafing around all night! Drinking! Petting! People don't care any more; they don't want to work; they just have a good time and get by as easy as they can."

And, the old major doesn't agree with former President Coolidge's statement that the world is getting better.

"I have never seen such times in my 101 summers. I want to tell you," he affirmed and sadly shook his gray-haired head.

Divorce, too, came in for a share of rebuke from the old fighter.

"Divorce is all wrong," he asserted. "All women think about now when they have a little 'tiff' with their husbands is a divorce—and how much alimony.

"Why, I tell you, my wife and I raised eight children, and we never quarreled. Oh, once-in-awhile, we'd have words, but I'd just laugh and walk out, and and then, later, we'd make up again."

U. S. DELEGATION TO PARLEY OUT TO SEA

Filled with High Hopes That Mission at London Will Prove Success

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—Filled with high hopes that their mission will prove successful, five of America's seven delegates to the London naval arms conference were well out to sea today aboard the historic United States liner George Washington.

The flag-bedecked vessel which 11 years ago carried the late President Wilson to the Versailles peace conference, was given a send-off in keeping with the importance of the passengers it carried when it sailed out of the harbor late yesterday.

Harbor craft filled the air with shrill whistles as the liner slowly headed seaward. Coming abreast of Fort Jay, the ship's ensign was dipped in answer to a booming salute from the guns of the fort.

The five delegates aboard who will join Ambassadors Charles Gates Dawes and Hugh Gibson, the two delegates already in Europe, when the ship arrives in England on Jan. 17, four days before the opening of the conference, are Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of Navy Charles F. Adams, Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, and Senators Joseph T. Robinson and David A. Reed.

All the delegates were accompanied by their wives. Advisers, clerks, secretaries, marine guards, newspaper correspondents and others connected with the diplomatic mission brought the number who made the trip up to about 102. Among these was Miss Elizabeth Morrow, sister-in-law of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who is aboard with her parents.

Philosophies are just somebody's theories; though they may be interesting.

MORE PAGEANTRY IN HONOR OF COUPLE

Humbert and Marie Jose Review Procession of School Children

ROME, Jan 10—Another day of pageantry, festivities and official functions connected with the marriage gave Crown Prince Humbert and his bride Princess Marie Jose little private today.

This morning they reviewed a procession of school children who were thus given an opportunity to get a glimpse of the new Princess of Piedmont who is destined to be Italy's future queen

This afternoon they were to review a parade of civil authorities from all over Italy This procession will be marked by floats and costumes depicting the history of the Italo-Italian states

Marie Jose will part with her family this evening when King Albert Queen Elizabeth Princess Astrid and the Princes Leopold and Charles depart for Brussels

Later the crown prince and his bride will attend a gala performance of the opera staged in their honor

Sometime tomorrow they will start on their honeymoon It is expected they either will go to the royal hunting lodge at San Rossore for a few days or go directly to the royal chateau of Racconigi Humberto's birthplace and his father's present gift to the newlyweds

CHEAP BREAD CHEATS THE GROWING CHILD

WHO has a better right to the very best of food than a growing child?

Little bodies must be nourished must be refreshed after a hard day's play, with bread that is all food ..food to make growing children sturdy and strong . to help them play more, sleep better

There is no place in a child's diet for cheap food certainly no place for cheap bread Use Holsum Sliced or Unsliced

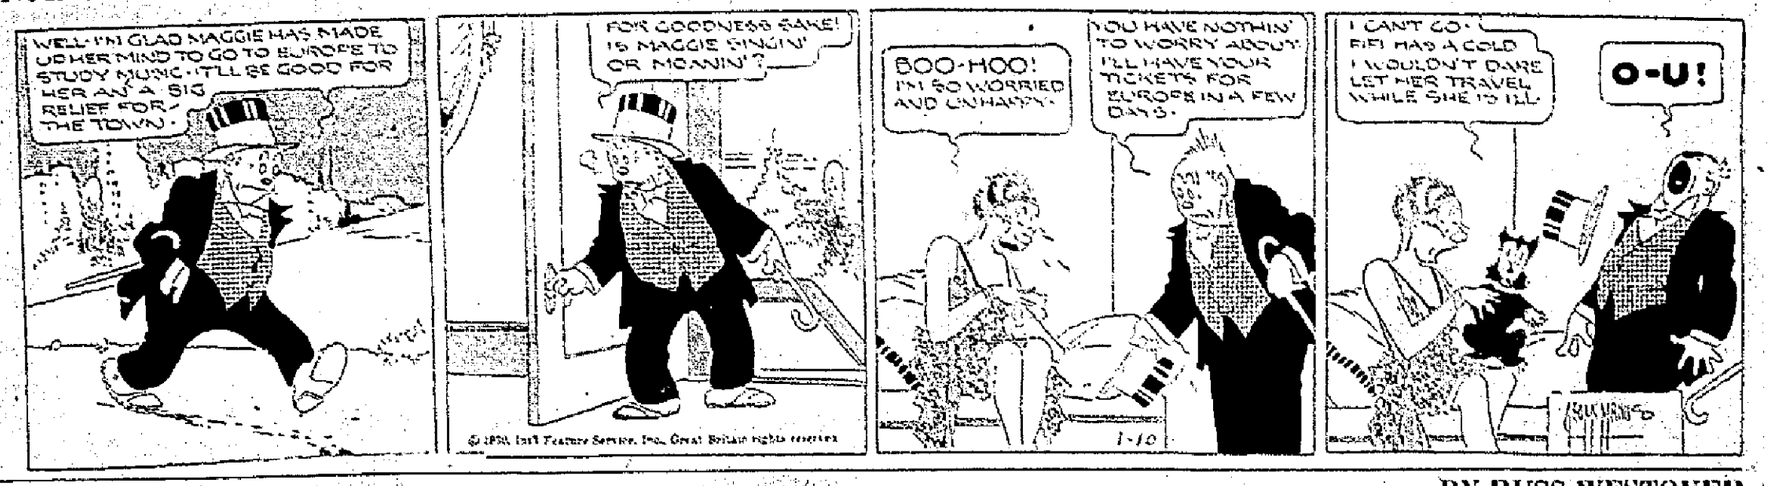
THIMBLE THEATER — BY SEGAR

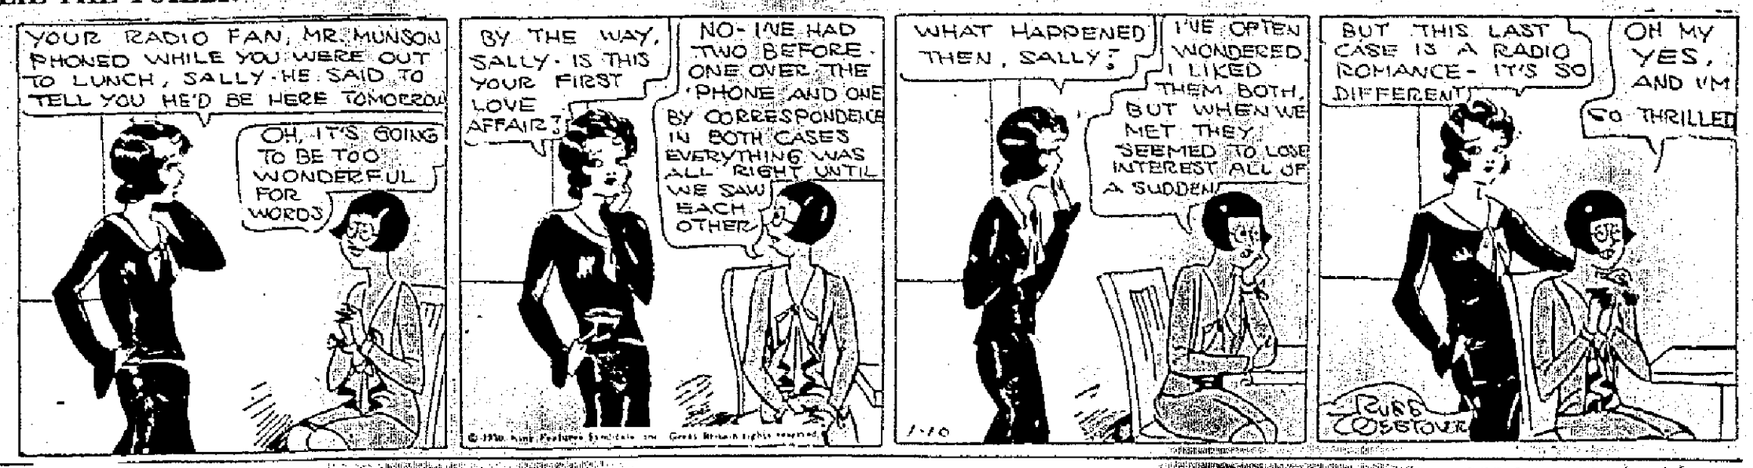
2-1-2 HONK
WHY ARE YOU ON THIS SHIP?
UGH-ER- YES MAAM
S-S-S-SAY- I CAN'T TALK TO YOU- WE'VE NEVER BEEN PROPERLY INTRODUCED
I'LL HAVE TO GO NOW- G'BYE!

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS



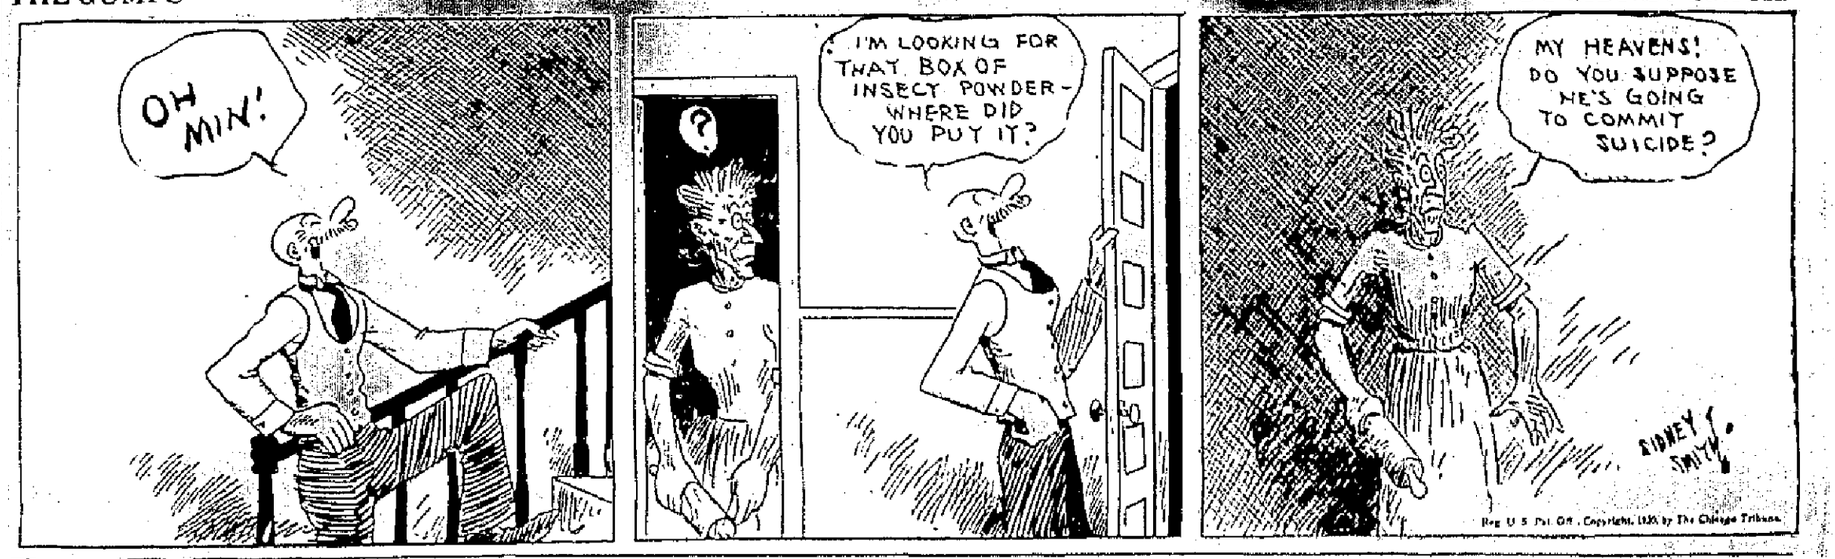
WELL- I'M GLAD MAGGIE HAS MADE UP HER MIND TO GO TO EUROPE TO STUDY MUSIC- IT'LL BE GOOD FOR HER AN A BIG RELIEF FOR THE TOWN-
FOR GOODNESS SAKE! IS MAGGIE SINGIN' OR MOANIN'?
BOO-HOO! I'M SO WORRIED AND UNHAPPY-
YOU HAVE NOTHIN' TO WORRY ABOUT- I'LL HAVE YOUR TICKETS FOR EUROPE IN A FEW DAYS-
I CAN'T GO- FIFI HAS A COLD I WOULDN'T DARE LET HER TRAVEL WHILE SHE IS ILL
O-U!

TILLIE THE TOILER — BY RUSS WESTOVER

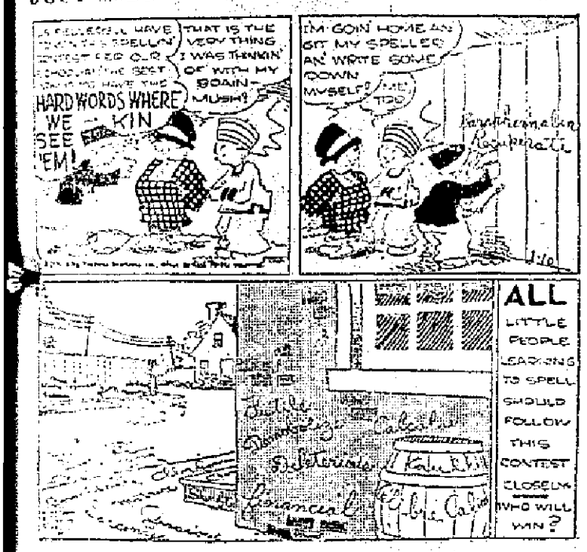


YOUR RADIO FAN, MR. MUNSON PHONED WHILE YOU WERE OUT TO LUNCH, SALLY- HE SAID TO TELL YOU HE'D BE HERE TOMORROW
OH, IT'S GOING TO BE TOO WONDERFUL FOR WORDS
BY THE WAY, SALLY- IS THIS YOUR FIRST LOVE AFFAIR?
NO- I'VE HAD TWO BEFORE- ONE OVER THE 'PHONE AND ONE BY CORRESPONDENCE IN BOTH CASES EVERYTHING WAS ALL RIGHT UNTIL WE SAW EACH OTHER
WHAT HAPPENED THEN, SALLY?
I'VE OFTEN WONDERED I LIKED THEM BOTH, BUT WHEN WE MET THEY SEEMED TO LOSE INTEREST ALL OF A SUDDEN
BUT THIS LAST CASE IS A RADIO ROMANCE- IT'S SO DIFFERENT!
OH MY YES, AND I'M SO THRILLED

THE GUMPS — BY SIDNEY SMITH



JUST KIDS — BY AD CARTER

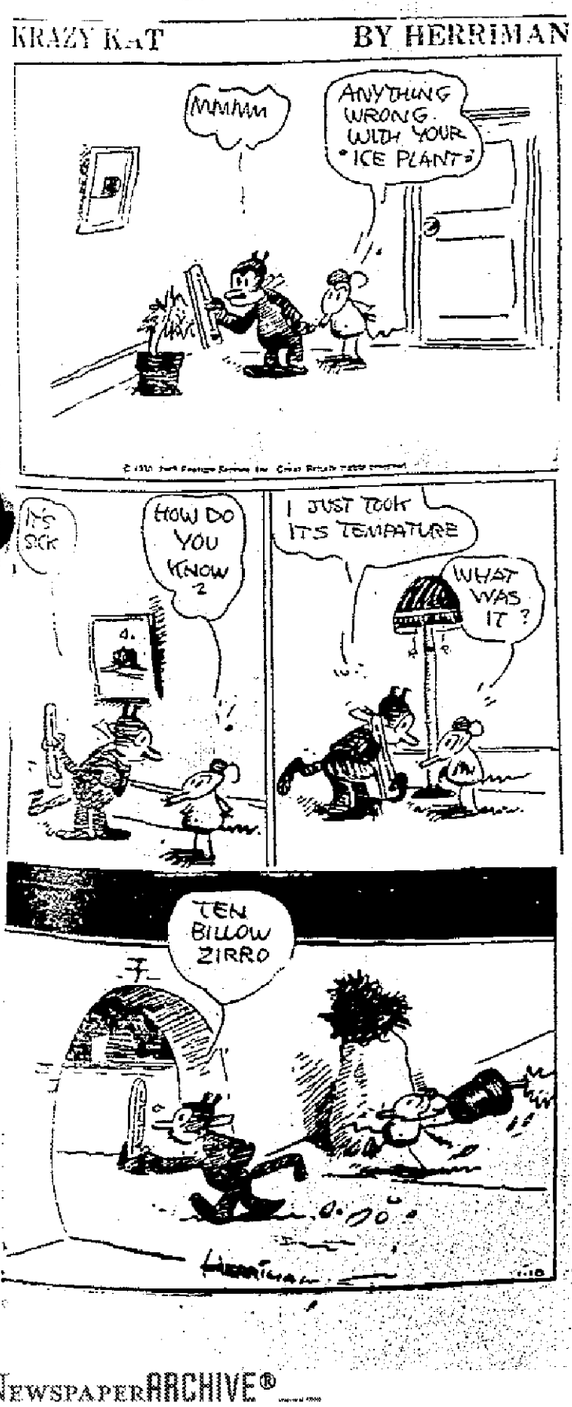


HARD WORDS WHERE WE KIN SEE 'EM!
THAT IS THE VERY THING I WAS THINKIN' OF WITH MY BOAIN- MUSH!
I'M GOIN' HOME AN GIT MY SPELLER AN WRITE SOME DOWN MYSELF!
ALL LITTLE PEOPLE LEARNING TO SPELL SHOULD FOLLOW THIS CONTEST CLOSELY- WHO WILL WIN?

POLLY AND HER PALS — BY CLIFF STERRETT

HADN'T I BETTER TAKE THIS CANDY AWAY FROM HER BEFORE SHE GITS SICK? SHE'S ET NEARLY HALF OF IT!
WHEN GERTRUDE NEEDS YOUR ADVICE REGARDING HER HEALTH, SAMUEL. SHE'LL ASK FOR IT!
NEVER AGAIN, DAWGONE IT! HERE'S WHERE I BUTT OUT, AN' STAY OUT!
THANK YOU SAMUEL. BOTH GERTRUDE AND MYSELF WILL APPRECIATE IT, I ASSURE YOU!
MERCIFUL HEAVENS GERTRUDE! WHO GAVE YOU THAT CIGAR?
NOBUDDY GAVE IT TO HER SHE SNATCHED IT OUTTA MY HAND!
YOU INHUMAN MONSTER! TO SIT THERE AND DELIBERATELY LET THE CHILD POISON HERSELF!
IF GERTRUDE WANTS ANY HEALTH HINTS OFF'N ME SHE'LL HAFTA ASK FER 'EM!

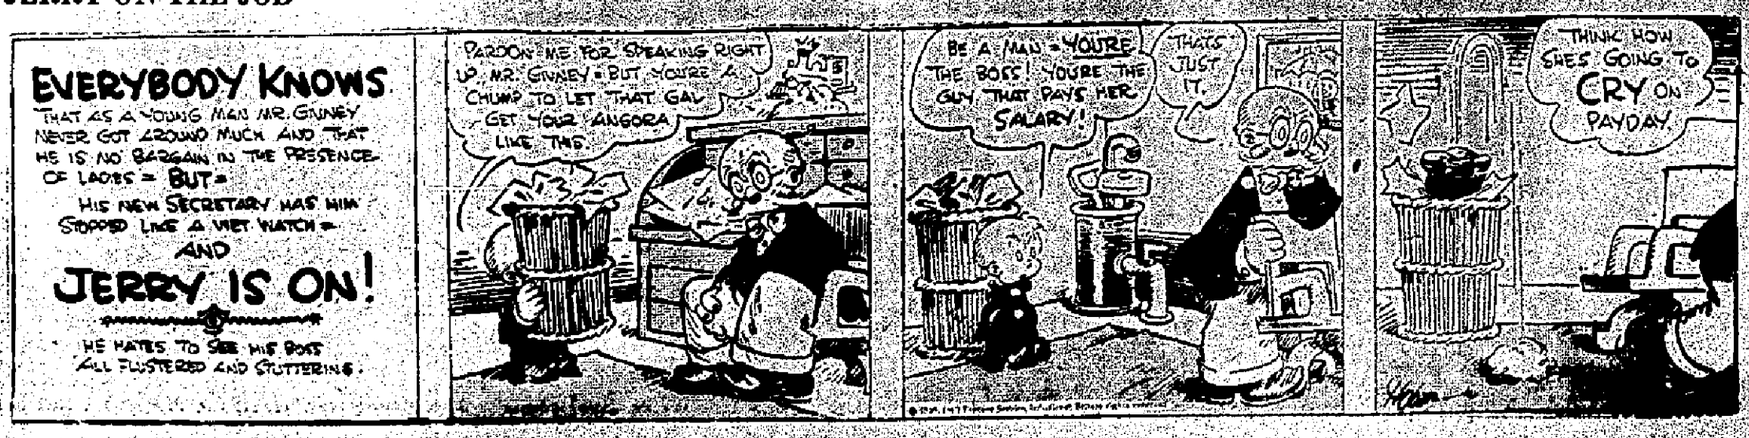
KRAZY KAT — BY HERRIMAN



TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY

HELLO, TOOTS! HELLO, CASPER! HELLO, BABY! IT SEEMS- GOOD TO SEE YOU KIDS!
GEE, WE'RE GLAD TO SEE YOU, TOO, UNCLE EVERETT
WHERE IS THE BRASS BAND TO WELCOME US TO PRAIRIE JUNCTION? WHERE ARE THE CHEERING CROWDS? WHERE IS THE MAYOR WITH THE KEY TO THE CITY? WHERE ARE THE NEWSPAPER REPORTERS AND THE PHOTOGRAPHERS? WHAT KIND OF A TOWN IS THIS ANYWAY??
HOW IS ELSIE?
JUST FINE, TOOTS! SHE'S HOME WAITING FOR YOU! ELSIE SAYS YOU'RE THE CUTEST TRICK SHE EVER SAW!
DON'T TELL ME THIS IS YOUR CAR, UNCLE! GOSH, IT'S A BEAUTY!
I WAS THINKING, UNCLE, THE INITIAL "C" IS PAINTED AS THE MONOGRAM ON THE DOOR OF THIS CAR. "C" STANDS FOR CASPER AS WELL AS FOR CHUCKLES. WHAT I'M DRIVING AT IS THIS! I WISH YOU'D LOAN ME THIS CAR SOME WEEK-END SO I COULD PARK IN FRONT OF COLONEL HOOFER'S HOUSE AND MAKE HIM GREEN WITH ENVY!

JERRY ON THE JOB — BY HOBAN



EVERYBODY KNOWS
THAT AS A YOUNG MAN MR. GINNEY NEVER GOT AROUND MUCH AND THAT HE IS NO BARGAIN IN THE PRESENCE OF LADIES - BUT -
HIS NEW SECRETARY HAS HIM STOPPED LIKE A WET WATCH - AND JERRY IS ON!
HE HATES TO SEE HIS BOSS ALL FLUSTERED AND STUTTERING.
PARDON ME FOR SPEAKING RIGHT UP, MR. GINNEY - BUT YOU'RE A CHUMP TO LET THAT GAL GET YOUR ANGORA LIKE THIS
BE A MAN - YOU'RE THE BOSS! YOU'RE THE GUY THAT PAYS HER SALARY!
THAT'S JUST IT.
THINK HOW SHE'S GOING TO CRY ON PAYDAY.

A Better Policy

There are two ways of buying a Used Car:

1—Buy it outright from the owner.
2—Or buy it from an automobile dealer.

The first may be satisfactory, providing of course you are an expert mechanic, appraiser, and purchasing agent combined. A better policy is the second method. Now our dealers buy Used cars with a view of reselling them. They know exactly what each car needs to be reconditioned thoroughly. They have the facilities for doing that.

Right now, we are offering unusual values in Used cars. Every one in tip-top condition—fine in every respect. They are priced to sell and will sell.

Large Pool Formed To Force Up Key Stocks

LEADING INDUSTRIAL STOCKS SHOW GAINS

Strength and Activity Shown in Steels Following Report

TONNAGE INCREASES

Food Shares Continue To Advance: Rumor Gold Dust-Biscuit Merger

BY W. S. COUSINS
Marion Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—The leading industrial stocks were able to make considerable headway today against a heavy load of speculative selling and profit-taking, which appeared whenever favorable industrial news was issued.

The formation of a new $300,000,000 pool, with $250,000,000 already paid in, was reported to have started operations in key stocks, like Anaconda Copper and Bethlehem and to have already accumulated thousands of shares of representative stocks.

Strength and activity of the steel stocks preceded the publication of the Steel Corporation's December unfilled tonnage report, showing an increase of 201,848 tons in incoming orders for the month. Bethlehem forged ahead to 97½ and U. S. Steel to 173, but a burst of profit-taking forced them back to lower levels.

The food stocks continued the forward move which has been in progress since Monday. Gold Dust and Standard Brands in the low-price division and National Biscuit in the high-priced group made the best market records, Gold Dust advancing to 43 and Standard Brands to above 28. Market gossip linked Gold Dust in a merger with National Biscuit, to form a combination that would control a large portion of the trade-marked food goods sold in local and British markets.

Today's Review of Yesterday's Grain

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 10—Wheat shorts covered in the late trade yesterday sending prices above the previous close. The market sold off sharply in the early part of the session, but met support from commission houses purchasing. The character of the buying plus rumors of export business caused the late nervousness among the shorts.

Corn was strong and substantially higher throughout the day with the strong cash market light country offerings and unfavorable weather the features. Oats were firmer with corn, while rye took its trend mainly from wheat.

Closing wheat prices were more than 1½c above the lows and showed net gains for the day of ⅛@¼c. Corn was 1⅝@1½c higher; oats ⅝@⅝c up; and rye unchanged to 1c lower. Liverpool wheat futures closed 1⅝@1⅞d lower, while Winnipeg finished ⅛c lower to ¼c higher.

Cables Are Weak

Lower Liverpool prices, charged to larger Argentine shipments and offers of new wheat with a dull demand, caused a substantial reaction in the local market, which held until near the close. Commission houses were active buyers on the break with houses connected with eastern account conspicuous. This support led shorts to believe new longs were taking hold and the late rally was made on covering and commission house buying. There were unconfirmed rumors of good export sales on the break.

There was a great deal more activity in the corn pit yesterday, with the balance on the constructive side. Buying was based on the strong demand and firm tone in the cash market, which was coupled with the light country offerings and the unfavorable weather expected to interfere with the movement.

Considerable bullish feeling was aroused by the government figures showing only 2,101,000,000 bu secured for grain from the 1929 crop, compared with 2,300,000,000 bu from the 1928 harvest. This is the lowest total since 1924.

Argentine new crop acreage was estimated by Broomhall at 12,800,000, compared with 11,826,000 a year ago. Bearishness over this was somewhat tempered by a higher range of futures prices at Buenos Aires.

Cars of grain received and inspected: Wheat, 18; corn, 170; oats, 10; rye, 3, and barley, 6.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion market prices were firm this morning, there being no changes from yesterday's quotations reported by local grocers.

Market men today anticipated a drop of a cent on butter prices today, following active price slashing on butter in the last two weeks.

Grocers today were preparing advertisements for a number of Saturday specials, which will probably drive butter and egg prices considerably below normal.

Plan Ahead
For Future Happiness

INSTEAD of finding it easy to save when earning more, some people find it harder because their desires for luxuries and extravagance to gratify present whims, seem to increase more rapidly than their earnings increase.

BUT real contentment and happiness do not always come from gratifying present desires, and surely nothing can bring greater unhappiness than spending one's entire income now, without regard for the future.

19 OHIO AGRICULTURE ORGANIZATIONS MEET

Annual Session Will Be Held in Columbus During Farmers' Week

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—Nineteen state agricultural organizations of Ohio will hold their annual meetings on the campus of Ohio State university here during the eighteenth annual Farmers' week, Feb. 3 to 7. In addition to the annual business sessions of these groups, general programs, one day, will be devoted to the members of the Grange in Ohio.

Monday, the first day of the sessions, will be Ohio Farm Bureau Federation day, with the principal address delivered by United States Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde. Other general programs will be arranged by the officers of the state Farm Bureau Federation.

During the remainder of the week, there will be annual sessions of the Ohio Vegetable Growers' association, the Ohio Forestry association, the Ohio Farm Women's Club Federation, the Ohio Beekeepers' association, the Ohio State Horticultural society, the Ohio Jersey cattle club, the Ohio Dairymen's association, the Ohio Belgian Breeders' association, the Ohio 100-bushel corn club, the Ohio Seed Improvement association, the Ohio Guernsey Breeders' association, the Ohio Rambouillet Sheep Breeders' association, the Percheron Breeders' association, the Ohio Shorthorn Breeders' association, the Ohio Holstein Breeders' association, the Ayrshire Breeders' association, the Ohio Aberdeen Angus Breeders association and the Ohio Brown Swiss Breeders' club.

While the programs of the agricultural organizations and the general programs are going on, departmental programs arranged by the departments of the college of agriculture of the university, and the agricultural extension service, will also be under way. More than 200 different meetings and sessions are scheduled for the week, with more than 100 speakers from this and other states and from the United States department of agriculture at Washington, D. C.

Attendance at the Farmers' Week last year was 6,028 persons, a figure which college of agriculture officials believe will be equaled or exceeded this year. Special rates to Columbus for the week have been arranged by the steam railroads of the state.

STEEL OUTLOOK BETTER

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 10— Iron and steel production in the Youngstown district for the first week in January is expected to gain 15 per cent over December 1929 production scheduled, according to leaders in the industry here.

R. G. WILLIAMSON

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY CANTON MARION

R. G. Williamson Takes Post as Captain of I. O. O. F. Branch

R. G. Williamson was installed as captain of Canton Marion, No. 95, Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., at a meeting last night in the I. O. O. F. hall. The occasion was marked by a combined meeting of Canton Marion and the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 41.

Other officers installed are: C. C. Collins, lieutenant; James Cleveland, ensign, and T. E. Bolander, past captain.

Preceding the meeting of the lodge, T. E. Bolander installed Mrs. J. A. Hiller as past president of the auxiliary.

Following the meeting a lunch served by the ladies and a social hour were enjoyed.

BANDIDT SLAIN

Policeman Shot in Chase Through Streets of Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 10—One bandit slain, another seriously wounded and a policeman shot was the toll today of two revolver duels.

Brandishing a revolver, Robert Joyce leaped on a moving automobile. A policeman, Charles Binder, gave chase and Joyce emptied his gun at him, wounding Binder in the arm.

The bandit commandeered a taxicab but his flight ended when two detectives dragged him from the cab, weak from two bullet wounds.

An unidentified negro was slain as he and a companion attempted to hold up Frank Armstrong.

ICY DELUGE DOES EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Electric and Phone Service Badly Crippled by Covering of Sleet

night. Hundreds of limbs from trees fell along sidewalks and streets last night, endangering autoists and pedestrians.

At least two automobiles, one on Orchard st. and one on Otary av., were caught under falling branches. Workmen of the city service department were on the streets early this morning with trucks and wagons, clearing away the fallen branches.

With them were linemen of the C., D. & M. Electric Co. who were restoring lines which fell beneath the heavy ice and falling limbs last night.

Various sections of the city were without street lights at different times last night.

Marion was without interurban service to the northern part of the state, as the C., M. & D. Railway Co. car has not returned to this city since it left last night shortly after 5 o'clock. Ice-coated trolleys caused the delay.

The C., D. & M. Electric Co. was continuing its interurban service south of here by transferring passengers to Prospect by bus. Flooded tracks north of Prospect made the operation of the interurban north of that village dangerous.

The fire alarm system of the city department was badly crippled by last night's ice and falling branches. The amount of damage has not yet been determined.

Colder Weather Expected

Predictions of fair and colder tonight are expected to bring local temperatures down below a low mark of 21 degrees reported last night. Yesterday's high was 36 degrees. A year ago the high was 40, the low 29.

With the fallnar of the temperature early Thursday morning, Upper Sandusky and vicinity experienced one of the worst sleet storms it has had in many years. By nightfall the trees were heavily coated with ice and many of the limbs were broken off by the excess weight. Last night hundreds of branches were breaking from the trees, making walking on the sidewalks exceedingly dangerous. The damage to the trees in the south part of town appeared to be greater than anywhere else in the city.

Late yesterday afternoon a break occurred in the Ohio Power Co. transmitting line to Upper Sandusky and the lights were out for a time. This was remedied but the falling branches in the city soon caused the wires to break and the city was in darkness the remainder of the night.

Phone Lines Out

The Bell Telephone Co. announced that all long distance lines from Upper Sandusky were dead. Many lines in the country were reported down, which was slowly cutting down the number of active lines.

With the falling temperature the waters of Sandusky river began to slowly recede late Thursday afternoon. One car became stalled in the water on the Marion road south of Upper Sandusky, Wednesday night. A young man attempted to drive through the water but it was too high and his motor stalled. He called for help and was rescued by one of the state highway department trucks.

Thousands of dollars damage resulted from one of the worst sleet storms in history which swept down on Kenton and Hardin county late Thursday afternoon and night, disrupting telephone and power service and tieing up traffic temporarily on many city streets.

Telephone communications with the outside world were cut off early in the evening and many rural and city lines were either destroyed or damaged as wires and poles snapped under their heavy burden of ice that gradually grew as rain and sleet continued to fall and freeze.

Electric Service Crippled

Power lines of the Ohio Power and Suburban companies supplying current throughout Hardin county did not escape and many snapped. Mt. Victory was without power and light when electric lines leading to the town broke south of Kenton.

More than 50 homes in the vicinity of the Fairground rd., on the southern edge of Kenton were plunged into darkness as a 2300-volt lines went out.

Early in the evening the Ohio Power was forced to turn out street lights in the residential districts, ice-coated tree limbs snapping the wires in falling.

Havoc played by the storm in Galion robbed the city schools of light and heat today. The school plant was shut down until repairs can be made.

M. E. CHURCH BOARD MEETS AT MEEKER

Epworth League Will Attend Revival Services at Agosta

MEEKER, Jan. 10—The official board of the Methodist church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ansen Parish Tuesday night. The regular business meeting was held.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Anson Parish, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Levaun Cooper and Miss Evelyn Parish. The next board meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wiley.

Will Sing

Members of the Epworth league of the Methodist church will attend revival services at Agosta next Sunday night in place of their regular meeting here. A special choir composed of the following persons, will sing: Miss Marie Wilson, Miss Rita Van Meter, Miss Naomi Coon, Miss Virginia Wiley, Miss Madeline Cates, Miss Lois Haynes, Miss Edna Korn, Miss Maxine Burbaugh, Miss Louise Anthony, Merwyn Burbaugh, George Washburn, Donald Irvine, Miss Evelyn Parish, Miss Elizabeth Washburn, Lowell Cates and Lowell Parish.

A duet and quartet will be special features on the music program.

Add to Faculty

An addition has been made to the teaching faculty of the Meeker high school. Arthur Queen, of Columbus, will teach classes in manual training, mathematics and science, beginning the second semester, which opens next Monday. Final examinations covering the first semester's work were held yesterday and today. A new schedule has been arranged by the principal, M. A. Pevenmire.

Bucyrus Council Cuts Appropriation for Schools

BUCYRUS, Jan. 10 — What appeared to be a critical condition for the Bucyrus schools dropped to a somewhat better situation yesterday when the city of Bucyrus through Mayor Arthur Schuler and City Solicitor C. F. Schaber came to the aid of the board of education when had been given a reduction in tax receipts and agreed to give the board in the neighborhood of at least $2,000. The agreement followed two conferences between school board members and County Auditor C. H. Fry, member of the budget committee. It was discovered at the meeting of the school board last Monday what the school budget, presented for $212,000 had been cut to $200,000 by the budget committee composed of Prosecutor J. D. Sears, County Treasurer I. B. Smith and Auditor Charles Fry, without it having been presented to the school board for hearing.

Sewing Meeting Planned by Class

The women of the Philathea class of Emanuel's Lutheran church decided at a meeting last night with Mrs. Charles Remoser, Windsor st., to hold an afternoon sewing meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Clifford Thibaut, Irey av. Plans were made for a bake sale in April.

Honors in a contest were awarded Mrs. William Ackerman. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. George Long will entertain the class Feb. 5 at her home, Johnson st.

MARYSVILLE MAN INJURED IN CRASH

Cars Driven by Kenton Mayor and School Principal Collide at Street Intersection

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 10—Harry Taylor, residing on North Main st., principal of the elementary schools here, sustained bruises to his head and shoulders when his car and one driven by Mayor George H. Lingrel, of Kenton, collided at the intersection of North Main sts. and Elwood av., at noon today. The Taylor car which is uninsured, was practically demolished. Mayor Lingrel's car was damaged. The Lingrel car was insured.

The accident occurred as Taylor was enroute to his home and Mayor Lingrel to the home of his cousin, Sheriff J. B. Lingrel, of this city.

PRESENT PLAY AT GREEN CAMP MEET

Missionary Society Holds Session at Wasserbeck Home; Club Meets

GREEN CAMP, Jan. 10—A play, "The Second Time Around the World" was presented by members at a meeting of the Missionary society of the Reformed church Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louise Wasserbeck. During a short business session Mrs. Mayme Ruth was named president to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Ackerman, who will leave soon for her new home in Defiance. Eleven members responded to roll call. Guests included Mrs. Mildred Ruth and Miss Gladys Bricker. Lunch was served during the social hour. The members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Leah Wasserback at the February meeting.

Galion Reformed Class Has Program Meet

GALION, Jan. 10—Members of the Alpha Bible class of the First Lutheran church met Wednesday afternoon at the church. This was the first meeting for the new officers who are Mrs. T. M. Gleason, president; Mrs. Clarence Gardner, vice president; Mrs. O. C. Kramer, secretary and Mrs. Willis Muth, treasurer. Responses to roll call were in the form of devotionals. A piano solo was given by Wilma Tracht and a clarinet solo by Robert Gardner. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting in the church basement by Mrs. W. H. Richards, Mrs. W. H. Rankel and Mrs. Matilda Kurtzman.

Daily Proverb—"Enjoy today, for tomorrow the first gray hairs may come."

A couple out in Sterling, Illinois, celebrated the seventieth anniversary of their marriage. Let the reader stack this up against the movie and stage divorces.

President Hoover appeals to the nation to aid the naval conference by patience, encouragement and lack of criticism, which, we take it, shows the president to be a firm believer in the power of psychology.

It may be merely a coincidence, but the same day the trouble broke out in Republican senatorial ranks over the LaFollette candidacy for a place on the finance committee, Mont Pelee broke into violent eruption.

The Ford motor vehicle output in 1929 was 1,951,092, a gain of 136 per cent. over that of the year before. What hope for a reasonably long survival of us true aristocrats of the land if there in the face of figures such as these?

A coast guard captain reported at New London, Connecticut, one day this week, that there were 150 vessels in the rum row fleet at present. There are times when we can not evade the suspicion that some of our so-called good citizens are surreptitiously violating the prohibition law.

There were sixty weddings in Venice, Wednesday, at the same hour as that of Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, and Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy. Apparently, a royal wedding is a great boomer for the game of Cupid.

A lot of people who read the news story from Dallas, telling how some unknown party or parties had tied together the front feet of a small boy's pet donkey so that it could not help itself and then twisted a rope about its neck and hanged the donkey from a beam, may change their minds about the propriety of lynching.

A Washington dispatch says the president's crime board is split over the dry law. Nothing surprising about that. In a word, it is representative of a cross-section of the entire country.

Late advices from The Hague carry the information that France will propose to the five-party naval conference a six-year naval building truce. That proposal should prove pleasing to Great Britain, which has a fleet from two to three times the size of any other power.

Representative Underhill, of Massachusetts, wants such expresions as "applause" and political propaganda eliminated from the Congressional Record. Wouldn't that be pretty close to the suspending of its publication?

An Iowa minister who, strange to say, had ample means, committed suicide when it was discovered that he had turned bank robber. In no sense of the word a reflection on the ministry. It is just as possible for a minister to become mentally unbalanced as that some layman may suffer that fate.

A Most Commendable Policy.

The death of Edward A. Sloan calls attention to how fortunate the Marion Cemetery association has been in the selection of its superintendents. For over a score of years, all the late superintendent's thought and effort was given to making the beautiful city of the dead committed to his keeping more striking, year by year, in its beauty. That he succeeded, is beyond question. Today it ranks high among the burial grounds in the land, and in its growing embellishments and care in maintenance very probably ranks first. There are few trees native to this country which are not represented by beautiful specimens in the local cemetery, and there are, as well, many specimens of trees which are not native. The same is in large part true of its shrubbery. Splendidly laid out, finely maintained, its rolling contours growing graceful trees, it is far more like a park than a cemetery, and it has so been called by many from afar who have visited it. In fact, not only home people, but visitors within our gates, who have had opportunity to visit the most famous of Old world cemeteries as well as those of the New, have spoken of it as surpassing in what they called its natural beauty any others visited by them.

It may prove interesting to readers to say, in this connection, that the Cemetery association has voted to maintain the present park-like north entrance in its present, or similar, form perpetually, and as the association is well financed and its grounds receive the attention of home people who justly take pride in maintaining the cemetery as the city's most beautiful section, this action of the association will, beyond all question of doubt, stand, as it is in line with the long-established policy of the association, which is drilled into each incoming member, that under no circumstances is the appearance of the grounds to be sacrificed to commercialism.

The story of the life of the little Dutch lad of six, who immigrated to this country, subsequently to become known the civilized world over as Edward W. Bok, writer, editor, publisher, author, philanthropist, patron of the arts and lover of beauty, reads more like a tale of fiction than a recital of fact.

Mr. Bok might well be remembered for his success as a magazine editor. His remarkable development of the Curtis publications would entitle him to long remembrance. His fascinatingly wonderful autobiography, "The Americanization of Edward Bok," will long survive in public esteem as a gem of its kind. Much more probably, the superbly beautiful carillon tower at Lake Wales, one of the most graceful and artistic of the world's famous towers, at the base of which his body will find sepulchre, will stand longest as a monument to the donor's memory. But that which should longest endure is the example of his life and the moral it carries.

A poor immigrant boy who, possessed of an indomitable will and superb courage, through his own unaided efforts, by diligence and persistent application, made of himself a notable figure in the land of his adoption; a success in each of the many fields of endeavor he entered; should be held up before this and succeeding generations in evidence of the fact that it's the rarely exceptional bar that endures against the efforts of courage, worth and ability and blocks the way to successful achievement.

The life of Edward W. Bok should prove an inspiration to every boy in the land today, and to every boy of the future so long as his varied achievements dwell in human memory. The example left by Mr. Bok is his richest legacy.

A bill has been introduced in the New York state legislature to stop the low-flying of planes over thickly-populated community centers. The sooner such a law is enacted in every state the better it will be for the country. That there is need of such a law has been demonstrated time and again, and that, too, with aviation still in its infancy.

The British "Who's Who," just off the press, lists Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh as the husband of "Elizabeth, daughter of Dwight Davis, United States ambassador to Mexico." What is there in fame and association with fame, anyway?

Congressman Loring F. Black, of New York, demands that the president of the United States be impeached on a charge of failure to enforce prohibition, holding that such is the only way to determine judicially whether dry laws ever can be enforced. Some of the members of both houses of congress should get next to the fact that the business of playing first-page publicity has been greatly overdone.

A Spectacle at High Cost.

The rain of the early hours of last night followed by the sleet later on resulted in the presentation of a wonderful sight to citizens this morning, every tree and bit of shrubbery being incased in crystal and white. It was a natural spectacle.

But the sight is one for which we pay heavily in damage done to shade and fruit trees and shrubbery throughout the city. It has been many years since so great damage has been done to trees as was suffered by them last night. Great limbs broke beneath the combined weight of sleet and ice and all the streets were littered by them this morning. In some cases the entire tree toppled under the burden it was unable to bear.

We may not appreciate to the full, at present, the damage done, but when the leaves begin to unfold, next spring, and show breaks in the shapeliness of the trees, full appreciation of the damage the city suffered last night will be brought home to us.

Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve and Professor James T. Shotwell, of Columbia university, are sad at heart in the fear that our failure to enter the League of Nations endangers world peace, which it is "blocking." But then, few, if any, of the faculty of Columbia who have broken into the public print have enough confidence in America to credit it with ability to govern itself.

Two of the leading physicians of Paris a day or two ago told the French Academy of Medicine that they had discovered that the injection of malaria germs into patients will cure paralysis in fifty cases out of a hundred. Those who have suffered a real tussle with malaria germs will be ready to agree that it will be either a case of cure or kill.

A Junkers plane has completed ten years of flying service over in Germany, meanwhile having worn out six motors. The Junkers people will make the mistake of their lives if they abandon that particular model. It's endurance record is unique.

The Detroit Free Press wants the Interstate Commerce commission given power to regulate the operations of motorbuses engaged in interstate commerce, claiming that fly-by-night buses are put on the highways by irresponsible companies and operated without either federal or state regulation to the menace of the public. Well and good, but the fact is that the great majority of the serious accidents has been to buses operated by responsible corporations.

Congressman Dickinson, of Iowa, says a quarter section of land out in his state can produce enough corn to make alcohol sufficient to keep New York City drunk for six months. It's hard to understand how tillers of soil of such fertility as that had the nerve to ask for farm relief.

The senate lobby committee ran up against another Grundy in the person of H. H. Rice, Jr., who shot back at its members as rapidly as they bombarded him and, among other matters, demonstrated that Senator Walsh, of Montana, was not sufficiently acquainted with the sugar schedules in the tariff bill to know that it already contained the "joker" the senator intimated the sugar people were hoping to put into the bill and which they, in fact, were trying to get out of it.

HEELED.

Diet and Insulin and Diabetes.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Diabetes is a condition resulting from inability of the system to handle properly the sugar which is consumed and which is essential to health. In this disease the body becomes overloaded with sugar or glucose. Other foods can not be assimilated properly and digestion fails.

Persons who have a habit of overeating and who are overweight are subject to it. This tendency to overweight appears to "run in families" and so, in a sense, diabetes may be considered to have a heredity nature. Obesity is usually a forerunner of diabetes.

It is more frequent, too, among people who are mental workers, rather than among manual laborers. Nervous influences have their part to play in the disease as well. It is probable that disturbances in the nervous system interfere with the chemistry of the body.

There are upwards of a million people in the United States today who have diabetes. Some types are very mild in their nature, while others are more severe.

It is encouraging to know, that through a carefully planned diet and the use of insulin treatments, the disease may be kept in control. If a patient will follow certain health rules, he may live long and enjoy a useful life.

The use of insulin in diabetes dates from 1921, when Dr. Frederick G. Banting, in the Toronto General hospital, made his discovery. He proved it possible to take insulin from the bodies of young animals and use it in injections for the successful treatment of this disease. Its use makes possible the burning of sugar in the body, and it also assists the disposition of fat. This insulin treatment is not taken independently of, but in connection with, a proper and limited diet.

The diabetic patient must first of all follow a carefully planned diet, which is outlined by his physician. The prescribed diet is taken under the most precise regulations. Much can be accomplished by such a regime. The diet necessarily differs with each individual.

All reasonable foods may be included, but the total quantity of food should be strictly limited. The patient must be extremely temperate in the use of sweets. Unless frowned upon by the doctor, they may be had in simple desserts, but not between meals.

Highly seasoned foods or sauces can not be taken. Overindulgence of every kind must be avoided. The older person should strive to keep his weight within normal bounds, and this may be accomplished by exercise and a limited diet. But in these matters medical advice is important.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

M.F.A. Q—What can be done for a little three-year-old girl with catarrhal trouble?

A—It might be well to try a good nose and throat spray. Perhaps she has adenoids. Consult a nose and throat specialist for the necessary treatment.

* * *

MRS. E.C. Q—Is rye bread constipating?

A—No.

* * *

A.T. Q—Is it possible to buy bottled oxygen for an asthmatic patient who finds difficulty in breathing?

A—Yes, make inquiry at a reliable drug store.

* * *

S.P. Q—What will relieve leakage of the heart and what general rules will aid in the cure?

A—Each case must have specific attention and treatment. In general, plenty of rest, and avoidance of undue exertion and excitement should bring about improvement.

Editorial Opinion.

ORTHODOX, BUT IS IT TRUE?

Margaret E. Sangster sounds a familiar note in her editorial in the Smart Set in which she tells girls that "even in this day of so-called feminine independence" it is better for a bright young woman to hide the fact that she has brains, if she wants male companionship and admiration. Mrs. Sangster insists that men never have admired cleverness in women and don't admire it today.

Perhaps the lady is right. What she maintains is certainly orthodox doctrine among both professional and amateur advisers of youthful females of the species. Yet sometimes we have our doubts.

Is it really brains and cleverness in women to which men object and which are likely to repel them, or is it ill-timed and somewhat ostentatious and frequently supercilious display of erudition and wisdom to which certain feminine types are prone, that causes the trouble? Do men really object to a naturally gifted and well-educated young woman if she avoids becoming bowed down by the weight of her intellect, retains her natural joyousness and ability to enjoy the lighter side of life, retains her sense of proportion and altogether acts like a natural human being?

It is hard for us to believe it is needful for a girl to act like a fool in order to attract men, because we have seen so many that do nothing of the sort and yet appear to have all the male company they want.—Detroit Free Press.

ILLNESS OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

Announcement that Chief Justice Taft, in obedience to "doctor's orders," is leaving Washington for the South for recuperation from illness and the shock of his brother's recent death causes keen sorrow in the capital. His health has until a few years past been remarkably robust. He has always borne himself in high spirits and in excellent form. Enjoying his judicial duties keenly, he has worked with zest in accomplishing the reduction of calendar arrears to the point of virtually bringing the business of the court up to date. He has not spared himself in this endeavor. Several years ago he suffered from a passing indisposition that caused a slackening of his activities, but upon his restoration to full health he went forward as vigorously as before. The death of his brother, to whom he was devoted, has brought the keenest grief to him. Now he is to suspend all official and social activities and rest at Asheville, where the country hopes he will soon renew his strength so that he may return to his beloved sphere of usefulness and to association with his friends.—Washington Star.

THIS BUSINESS NATION.

The great American public very literally is in partnership with the country's most gigantic enterprises, with all of its important enterprises. This is proved by the ownership of stock by the public, by the increase in the number of stockholders year by year.

The word and name of corporation no longer is taboo. The proletariat soap-box orator who cries out his denunciations of corporations and trusts in this day receives a cold hearing in America, because he assumes to talk to men and women who directly are financially identified with such institutions.

And these institutions are conducted by the servants of the people. They must give specific and frequent accounting of their stewardship. The ethics of business in this day demand a straightforwardness and honesty unknown to the past. Take any among the great enterprises of the nation, the American Telegraph and Telephone company, the great railroads, General Motors, United States Steel corporation and any number of others, and what do we find? Large numbers of stockholders scattered throughout the country, now more so than at any other time.

The recent flurry in Wall Street is not to be considered of importance in this analysis. The number and increase in registered stockholders tells the story of true investment buying. The investor takes the place of the speculator. Money is safe if safely placed; and an extensive stockholder's list is the country's best assurance of continued prosperity.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The Harmon foundation which lends money to needy college students finds that ambitious young men who want to go to college are good risks. After extending credits to the amount of more than half a million dollars the losses in collection are less than two per cent. Advancing funds to college students can be called an investment instead of a philanthropy. Without honesty a college education would be somewhat worse than nothing. Happy are those boys who realize what it means all through life to have a reputation paying one's debts.

William Lyon Phelps, brilliant Yale professor, says the founder of the Christian religion was a spiritual revolutionist who had no sympathy with the shrewd and canny people of the earth. There is such a thing as divine folly, says Professor Phelps, and it consists not of looking out all the time for one's self and one's own interests, but in giving freely of one's own personality. Real religion cares nothing for neatly balanced accounts of virtue and reward. It expects us to give more than we have given to us.

The men who are not forgotten, for whom we build monuments, are not usually the "shrewd and canny" ones of earth.

We are told by optimists we ought to expect much if we are to have much. Expecting big things means winning big things, they say. Some wisdom in this philosophy, but it hardly applies to all things. For example, one makes a mistake to expect gratitude. Gratitude is rare and we are not likely to find much of it in daily experience. If we let ourselves continue in the habit of expecting to find it we are likely to be disappointed and to become discouraged, bitter. Do not expect gratitude. If on occasion you find it, it will make you happy.

Like the man who wanted to close the patent office back in 1810 because he believed all possible inventions had been made, there are many today who fail to visualize the possibilities of developing industrial civilization. And right now the world is in need of a new metal. Industry needs a metal as hard as the best steel, as rustless as gold, and as light as aluminum. It can be produced and probably will be.

Already in the rich field of aviation we find experiments with self-righting and self-regulating airplanes. The fool-proof plane is near. Soon, perhaps, somebody will invent infallible courtesy and infallible brains for automobile drivers.

Love and Romance in "Gather the Stars"

"GATHER the Stars," Djuna Patrick's new novel released this month, has for its theme the love story of a woman, lurking in the shadow of middle age and a youth of 23. The author does not make any attempt to hide the fact that when Laurel is 57 the gay Jeremy will be only 43, but she does paint a word picture which in the end is a triumph of art and the love of the two becomes a thing of delicate beauty. The novel is published by E. P. Dutton & Co. Inc.

Part of the success of the story lies in the way in which the outcome is handled. Jeremy, in his youth, does not realize how Beverly Crane's youth is appealing to him who has blithly promised never to look upon another woman. Laurel with the wisdom of years understands how fate is pressing upon her heels and how if she does aught other than allow the one night of love to be the end, she must take some of its gossamer beauty from the experience.

To close the story on the note of Laurel's self sacrifice would be unsatisfactory. The author has chosen a far better ending for the heroine Youth must mate with youth and Laurel receives a compensating gift from the gods.

The novel might be called an idyll of love played in the shadow of death and mystery, with the misty beauty of the Irish countryside for its fitting accompaniment.

Sheila Kaye Smith Has New Novel

THE main figures in Sheila Kaye Smith's new novel, "Three Against the World," are two brothers, Leonard and Nigel Purbunger and their sister, Janet. The story starts with the return of Nigel, the younger, from a three-year term in prison, earned, not because there was anything of the criminal in him but because he was innocent and trustful and ambitious and thus could be made the victim of men less scrupulous than himself.

From his state of mind much is to be gathered about what prisons do to men, whether they belong in them or not. The experience of Nigel's merely serves to set a hostile world in motion against a family, which on account of its aloofness and self sufficiency has never been popular.

Subsequently the love between Janet and Quentin Lowe is encountered as well as the timid, grophing, unselfconscious love of Nigel for little Tony Strife. But above these rises the love of Janet, Nigel and Leonard for one another. It is in this word picture the author rises to her highest levels, the paintings being free and above any suggestion of sickly sentimentality or maudlin pathos.

"The Golden Stone," New Detective Yarn

"THE GOLDEN STONE," D. A. Pearson, is the Dutton mystery story for January. The story is something of a novelty because there isn't a corpse in it anywhere and the maximum bloodshed is a surface wound on the arm of a certain Mr. Mason who might well have been more thoroughly shot.

The mystery centers on a cat burglar in a rambling hotel in the Bernese Oberland, where winter sports are the attraction and where jewels are all too likely to be left in bureau drawers. For the honor and popularity of the hotel it is quite necessary to catch the burglar and check the thefts without official intervention or publicity.

An unusual little bald-headed detective named Frederick Falcon comes on from London and is secretly registered as a guest. After freezing himself to death several nights in a row by sitting on roofs and balconies and parapets he at length engineers a dramatic and heart-filling coup in which the most surprising suspect of all is caught with the evidence draped all over him.

Broadcast of "The Barber of Seville" Arranged as Saturday Night Feature

Network To Carry Comic Opera from Stage in Chicago

MUSICAL comedy in the "grand manner" as exemplified by Rossini's sparkling comic opera, "The Barber of Seville," will be offered to a vast audience of radio listeners as the dashing operatic version of the stage comedy by Beaumarchais is presented on the stage of the Chicago Civic Opera, and broadcast, in part, over a wide network of stations including the WJZ system, at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

With a cast which includes Giovanni Manurita and Marguerita Sabi in the two leading roles of "Count Almaviva," the dashing lover, and "Rosina," his sweetheart, the opera Saturday night offers an unusual treat to opera lovers. "The Barber of Seville" is one of the few comic operas which has been able to win an equal place with the great tragedies of the operatic repertoire, and although written by Rossini more than a century ago in 1816, its popularity seems to grow with the passage of the years.

The scene of the opera is laid in Seville, and deals with the love intrigues of Don Bartolo and Count Almaviva, both of whom are in love with the beautiful Rosina, who happens to be the ward of Bartolo. Naturally the advantage in position lies with the guardian, but after a series of comic manuevers, carried on with the aid of Figaro, who holds a position in the Bartolo household, Count Almaviva wins the love of Rosina, and the guardian is foiled in his scheme to marry his ward himself. The music of the opera, in accordance with the nature of its plot, is light and catchy but of a vivacious beauty and melody which has won for the work such favor with critics and public alike. In writing the composition, Rossini endangered all records for speed in composing, for the entire production was written in the first three weeks of January in 1816, and presented shortly after in the Roman Carnival of that year, for which it was expressly written.

INSURANCE AGENTS HEAR SALES TALKS

Farm Bureau Mutual Holds District Meeting at Hotel Harding

D. C. Cope, L. V. Hite, Fred J. Lusch, Jerald E. Miller, Vernon F. Shroats, and Paul C. Smith, of Marion county, were among the 25 agents attending the district meeting of the Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. at Hotel Harding Thursday.

Albert Doctor, sales manager of the insurance company who addressed the agents on "Salesmanship" at the morning session, told the men that the degree to which anyone succeeds as a salesman depends entirely upon the amount of service he renders to his customers. Making a sale, he said, is making two minds meet the mind of the prospect and the mind of the salesman.

At the afternoon session, Darrell O. Smith, manager of sales promotion of the company, talked on the topic "Sales Promotion, What Uses It and Why." He quoted Roger Babson, noted economist, who showed statistics which proved that of the companies operating in 1927, those who were the greatest users of advertising profited most.

This meeting is one of several others to be held in Ohio, West Virginia, Vermont and Maryland during January and February. Counties represented at the meeting were Crawford, Delaware, Knox, Marion, Morrow, Richland, Union and Wyandot.

KONJOLA SCORES OVER OBSTINATE KIDNEY TROUBLE

Man Suffered Ten Years and Spent Hundreds of Dollars In Vain Search For Relief

MR. HENRY O. KUMPF

There is a reason why Konjola is the most famous medicine in America, and that reason can be summed up in just three words, Konjola Makes Good. Consider the experience of Mr. Henry O. Kumpf, 516 Bradley street, Columbus, who says:

"I had taken Konjola only a few days before I realized that at last I had found the medicine I should have had in the first place. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief from kidney trouble, and nothing helped me until I found this amazing new and different medicine. After taking six bottles I am better than in years. I am better and stronger in every way. My kidneys function as they should, and I do not have to get up any more at nights. Konjola surely worked wonders for me."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients its seeming wonders to perform.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the leading druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Brockdorff Sees Army Worst Russian Danger

BERLIN—The greatest danger to the Bolshevist regime in Russia is the Red Army.

This was the assertion of Dr. Alexander Count Brockdorff in a lecture before the Pan-American League in Berlin.

Serious dissatisfaction among the peasants and famine may prove dangerous to the Soviets, Count Brockdorff said, because the peasants are without arms and in case of famine the enemies of the Soviets starve first.

But he asserted, the Red Army is now being recruited mainly from the peasant sons, and if only one division of the Red Army should turn against the Soviets, the whole regime would be in danger because it was unlikely that other army divisions would fight against the mutineers.

Does Marion Want Its Stock Company Any Longer?

To Those determining the course of the Stock Company at the Grand, the question of whether Marion wants the MYRTYL ROSS PLAYERS any longer has become potent and difficult.

Apparently there is an apathy of interest. The question arises: Is this lack of interest due to some external force or is it an expression of indifference to this form of entertainment? If it is the latter then the Players' withdrawal from Marion is obviously the wisest course.

To definitely answer this question the Players next week will offer that internationally famous comedy—

"THE GORILLA"

As Marion expresses itself on this universally popular and thrilling play, so the issue of the Myrtyl Ross Players will be decided.

Ask yourself: Do you want the legitimate theater represented in Marion? Do you want the Myrtyl Ross Players to continue here?

Ex-Chaplain Says Modern 'Circus Life' Creates Crime

T. O. Reed, 16 Years Religious Guide of Ohio Prisoners, Tells Local Kiwanians 8 Per Cent of Men Paroled "Make Good;" Tells of Loan Plan for Former Convicts

[illegible] 800 and 1,000 prisoners in [illegible] penitentiary are World [illegible]erans, who, returning from a [illegible] war, found themselves face [illegible] or poverty. That was the [illegible]ment made before the Marion [illegible] club yesterday by T. O. [illegible] recently resigned as chaplain, [illegible] state institution.

[illegible] 1st July, ended 16 years of [illegible] with the Ohio penitentiary as [illegible] he told Kiwanians. When [illegible] work there, 1,000 prisoners [illegible]ded. When he left in July there [illegible] 4,700 prisoners.

The "circus life" of today, or the [illegible] of every one to consider [illegible] seriously is partially blamed [illegible] as the cause for an increase [illegible].

Eighty per cent of all criminals [illegible] make good," Reed told [illegible]. Reed is now at the head of a welfare board, made up of wardens of Ohio penal institutions and a representative from every religious creed in Columbus. The welfare board will loan between $25 and $50 to each paroled prisoner or convict who has finished a "term." Otherwise the prisoner gets only a suit of clothing and $10.

Such loans have been made to 10 convicts, Reed said. Nine of them made good and repaid the loan.

A delegation of Kiwanians, including several officials, expect to attend the inaugural ball of the Ohio Kiwanis governor at the Neil House in Columbus on Jan. 17.

AGOSTA SCHOOL TO SPONSOR PLAY

Musical Comedy Will Be Given Two Nights at School Auditorium

AGOSTA, Jan. 10—"Kathleen" a musical comedy will be given Jan. 15 and 16, at the school auditorium.

The part of Kathleen will be played by Miss Frances Imbody. Others in the cast are: Jimmy Stanton, rich in love but poor in luck; Beeman Powers as; Ebenie Nevers, the village vamp, Ruth Drake; Neil Robinson, with a college education, Ivan Everett; Arabelle Williams, the village postmistress, Florence Kern; Lem Cadenhead, Flynnville police force, George Rush; Michael Flyn, Flynnville's wealthiest citizen and uncle and guardian of Kathleen, D. T. Mills; Tuckley Rennible, best checker player in town, Orville Robison.

The cast will be supported by the glee clubs of the local high school. The play is being directed by Harold Lehman of the John Rogers Producing Co., of Festoria.

Lodge Installs

TO ISSUE NEW NOTES

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 10—A new year's security offering by the Newton Steel Co., Youngstown, is forecast in a letter from R. F. Clark, president, to stockholders, calling a special meeting Jan. 9 to authorize a $3,000,000 note issue. The offering it is understood, will be made sometime this month.

Operating Schedule of Company 100 Per Cent

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—Operating schedules of the Midland Steel Products Co., will increase in January to a level fifty per cent over the December rate, according to H. J. Kulas, president. The company's production was curtailed in November and December as a result of the decline in motor car output.

Expansion of output in the new year reflects the beginning of recovery in automobile production, Kulas said. Greatly increased releases for both trailers and four-wheel brakes for January shipment have been received from a number of large customers. The increase in operations will be effective at both the Cleveland and Detroit plants of the company on January 2, Kulas said.

"FRIENDLY" RECEIVER

ALLIANCE, Jan. 10—Robert A. Parnell of Alliance has been named friendly receiver for the Alliance Aircraft Corp., by Common Pleas Judge Henry W. Harter. The appointment of Parnell was made at the request of creditors and directors of the company which suspended operations here more than a month ago because of lack of capital. Negotiations are reported under way for the sale of the plant here.

Whoever asks you to keep a secret clearly reveals that he can't.

New X-Ray Resisting Compound Announced

AKRON, Jan. 10—Development and perfection of a new rubberized compound which will resist the penetration of x-ray and which is suitable for lining of rooms in which x-ray apparatus is used, has been announced by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron.

The new compound is made in sheets approximately one-half inch in thickness and has a factor or repellence to x-ray's equivalent to that of lead shooting one-eighth inch thick.

Spraying Materials for Home Gardeners Listed

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—Spraying or dusting materials which the home gardener is almost certain to need in fighting insects and diseases, include arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate for chewing, or biting insects, nicotine sulfate solution, nicotine dust or pyrethrum extract for plant lice and other insects which suck the sap of a plant; and bordeaux mixture or copper lime dust, for plant diseases, sulphur dust, for plant diseases.

This is the minimum equipment as laid down in the most recent bulletin published by the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State university. The bulletin is written by T. H. Parks, extension entomologist, and A. L. Pierstorff, extension plant pathologist, and is available for free distribution.

"In a few cases other preparations will be needed to control certain pests. The most serious, perhaps, of these is the corn borer, likely to be reported [illegible]

A Christmas Eve plane [illegible] has been proposed for the transportation of gold and diamonds [illegible]

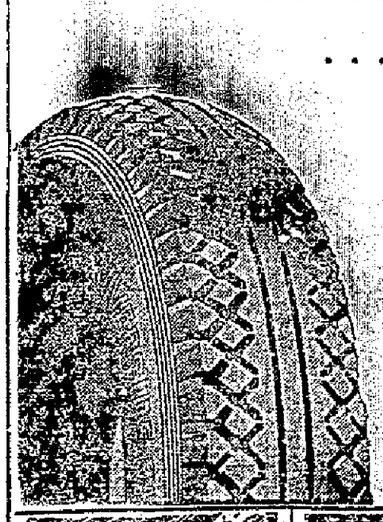
MONTGOMERY WARD & Co. announces
Sensational Increases in Riverside Guarantees
. . . with no increase in prices!



ACTUAL mileage records developed by our own large fleet of test cars, and the experience of millions of users have conclusively proved that the former mileage guarantees on RIVERSIDE tires . . . while most liberal . . . did not fully express the superlative quality of the tires themselves.

To more closely represent actual RIVERSIDE performance, we announce these new and greater mileage guarantees—covering a complete line of tires that conform to such specific standards of service only because they embody the finest of materials, the most modern design, and the expert workmanship that all superfine tires must receive.

Back of each of these sensational guarantees stands the prestige and responsibility of an organization whose record of 57 years of fair-dealing is unquestioned!
